Introduction

The original purpose of the compiler, in regard to this work, was to simply prepare a record of the line of descent of her own father and mother from their Pilgrim ancestors. As time went on, there was an increased desire to trace other family lines. As the work progressed there came an interest to put it in a form to be preserved for future generations.

It is impossible to complete a work of this kind without errors, unless the proof sheets are submitted to correspondents before publication, requiring much time and expense. However, all information and records received have been carefully copied and re-checked from the original. The writer is greatly indebted to all who so generously responded to the many inquiries, and to all of whom, my sincere thanks is due.

Preface

For several years, I have had the hobby of collecting family data, and during the summer of 1932 was prompted to renew my interest in genealogy. Charles B. Herendeen of Newark, New York, a genealogist, also a sealer of "Weights and Measures," was a frequent visitor at our General Store in Macedon Center, New York. During his visits we discovered that he, my husband, Willis P. Beal, and I were each a Lapham descendant. I was determined to find just how we three were related. Mr. Herendeen had collected a good share of the first four generations which he brought to me to add to my findings. He also had one of the original Increase Allen Lapham Charts which was prepared in 1864. This interested me very much for I had learned that Increase was the founder of the Weather Bureau and he was also first cousin to my grandmother, Lucy Antoinette Lapham Bortle.

All this I gathered just for my own records, but in October 1947 I decided to compile it all in proper order so that others in future generations might benefit by it, not realizing the tremendous task I was undertaking.

In its preparation, I have written hundreds of letters, visited a great many cemeteries, traveled near and far to gain information, and the response and kind cooperation by all has been wonderful.

An effort has been made to include, as far as known to the compiler, a condensed record of the birth, death, marriage, military record and occupation of each individual. I am sorry to say that I have not been able to complete all lines.

Did the thought ever occur to you that the records and paths you tread are the paths where the pioneer traveled with the covered wagon, over hill and dale, crossing streams, sometimes cutting down trees to make a road through woods and swampy places, a place for us to live?

This work has been one of labor, pleasure and enjoyment, in honor to those who have preceded us in life's journey, and we hope that by gathering up the faded recollections of the way distant path, combined with memories of the present day, you and generations yet unborn will receive pleasure.

Explanations

To find your place in this genealogy, first obtain the number in the index following your name; the smallest number will indicate the family number of your parents, where you will be listed as a child. At the left of your name will be found a number which will locate for you the number of your own family, and there references will be given for your descendants; your name will be listed by family numbers, not pages.

At the head of each family record will be a reference number which will direct you to your former ancestor, and so on back to your first ancestor, John Lapham for Part One; Thomas for Part Two.

If a number does not precede your name, it indicates that the compiler did not discover that you had a family, and your name will not be mentioned again.

The small numbers after each name thus (John 3, John 2, John 1) indicate the generation, and show the number of generations from the Common Ancestor. The word Table is used instead of Family in Thomas Desc. Part II.

To My Critics

It has been often said that many errors occur in genealogical work, mostly from the uncertain reading of the handwriting of the many correspondents. However, the compiler has spent many hours, reading, studying these different kinds of penmanship, and has made an attempt to put them on paper, as intended by the sender.

Many mistakes will remain undiscovered until the book is published. This has been a long tremendous, but very pleasant task, and it is hoped that the critics will not be too harsh on the historian.

Lapham Ancestry

Little apparently is known of the Lapham family before their coming to America, still by research, much could probably be learned. 'Tis said, that in the Century Dictionary, under "septentrial" meaning "of, or pertaining to the North," this little illustration is given.

"Waveney in her way, on this septentrial side
That these two eastern shires doth equally divide,
From Lapham ford, leads on her stream into the East."

The arms reproduced and used by the descendents of John the Pilgrim Ancestor, is argent, a chevron azure, between three towers proper, a compass, or "Crest, a sinister arm in armor, holding a dagger all proper." Regarding the symbolism of the arms, a chevron denotes protection; a tower, grandeur and solidity. It is a charge granted to him, who has faithfully held one for his king, or has captured one by force or strategem. A Scriptural reference may also be intended—"strong tower." The dagger like the sword may be an Emblem of the Crusades, and also of military honor, and it should incite the bearer to a generous pursuit of honor and virtue in warlike deeds. Regarding the colors of tinctures and the metal, argent denotes sincerity; azure, loyalty; and gold, generosity.

The Lapham Family

The word Lapham means "hearthstone or home stone," and is taken from the word lapis, stone and ham or heim, meaning home.

Some of the Laphams lived in Norfolk, England and it is said that in earlier times the family flourished in Scotland and Wales.

Three of the family came over from England before the middle of the seventeenth century. Thomas, John, and a second John were these Pilgrim fathers. Thomas was born in Tenterden, Kent Co., England about 1600, and about 1635, we find him a resident of Scituate, Mass. He was known as Thomas the Pilgrim or Thomas of Scituate. Soon after he married Mary, daughter of Elder Nathaniel Tilden. His early descendants settled in Maine and Massachusetts, many of whom are living there today.

Early lineage of this family may be found in Histories of Scituate, Marshfield and Medford, Mass. The Pioneers of Mass. says Thomas Lapham sold his home, and one half acre of land, which was located near Sir Edmund Hales place called Bures Isle to Thomas Hiland; confirmed by the widow 22, 6, 1650. Will dated 1, 15, 1644, prob. 10, 1, 1652; inv. taken 11, 23, 1648; wife Mary, ch. Elizabeth, Thomas, Lydia. See Part II.

John, the second of the three was born in Devonshire, England in 1635. He settled in Rhode Island and was a weaver by trade. He married Mary, daughter of William Mann. They had four sons and one daughter, and their descendants of more than 12,000 are recorded in this book.

John's home was burned at the outbreak of King Philip's War (when Providence was burned John then moved to Dartmouth, Mass.). He had previously been admitted freeman in Providence, where he was Constable and Deputy of the General Assembly. He was a large land owner for those days, and numbered his acres by the hundreds.

His son, John II, married Mary Russell, whose great grandfather on the paternal side had helped establish the first extensive iron works in the country which was at Taunton, Mass., where he also built the first blast furnace. The Russells were prominent in New England, and founders of whale fisheries.

Branches of these families are found in nearly every state in United States and many other countries.

We have had many prominent men and women in each of the Thomas and John Lapham lines, some of whom are: Benedict Lapham, state senator and cotton mill manufacturer, Amos Lapham, Lieut. Gov. of Rhode Island, Elisha Harris, Governor, Increase Allen Lapham, the first to forecast weather and storm, Col. Oscar Lapham, Rep in the United States Congress, Mayor of Providence, Rhode Island and one of the trustees of Brown University, Rev. Richard Lapham, Augustus Lapham one of the first to prepare a Lapham Chart, O. K. Lapham, beet, sugar, manufacturer, Susan B. Anthony, "Women's Rights." Hetty Green, the richest woman in the world during her time, and many others.

The Thomas family had its author and its genealogist in Major and Doctor William B. Lapham. He was author of a history of the state, also of a Story of Thomas the Pilgrim, and William B. Lapham Register.

The present generation has added many professional men, authors, Doctors, teachers, attorneys, etc.

From Colonial times down the Laphams have always been ready to defend their home and country. In the old French War of 1757, we find the names of Stephen and Benjamin. Isaac and John were at the seige of Ticonderoga in the same war. The roster of the Revolution includes the names of Asa, Amos, Captain Benjamin Pazzi, Lieutenant King, George and Ariel, and others. Joseph and Nathaniel were in the Navy. Many served in the Civil War.

"Family characteristics are shrewdness, sound and discriminating judgment, public spirit and enterprise, and a readiness to act, when action may be wise. Prompt, upright, apt, with sound principles and equanimity of temper and habits," says Eleanor Lexington.

The Laphams have intermarried with the Arnold family, the Howland, Harris, Beal, Smith, Sherman, Aldrich, Bradley, Hathaway, Anthony, Bortle, Ballou, Haviland, Russell, Durfee, Gifford, Gleason, Hussey, Ramsdell, Mason, Brown, Allyn and many others.

In the early days some very unusual given names occur, such as Increase, Deliverance, Welcome, Remembrance, Charity, Experience, Silence, Faith, Thankful, Desire, Peace, Patience, Freelove and Duty. The remaining names of the pioneer days were mostly taken from the Bible.

The third of the three Laphams was another John Lapham, of Norfolk, England, who married a Hollis of Malden in 1671, and to date no trace of the family has been found. However, the compiler has been unable to place three or four Laphams, and if time permitted, she might find they were descendants of this third John.

Many of the Hollis name were numbered among the early benefactors of Harvard College.

Laphams of Rhode Island and Dartmouth, Mass.

The Henry Lapham Chart says:

JOHN

The Friends Records of Newport, R. I. give the marriage of John Lapham and Mary Mann both of Providence, Apr. 6, 1673. (A. E. Hist. GD - Vol. 18, p. 241)

1673—May 6. Voted that John Lapham freeman of the towne of Providence is admitted freeman of this Colony. (Records of the Colony of R. I. Prov. Plantations II p. 482)

1673. Deputy. Constable.

1676. His house was burned in the Indian War.

1678—July 1. Record of tax of 10½ shillings against his land in Providence, R. I.

1680—May 18. Newport. He testified that about the year 1674, Thomas Suckling and wife bequeathed to people called Quakers, what estate they should have left, at their death, on condition that they should be provided for, during their lives, and further testified that the Quakers did supply them, and did board and shingle their house.

1698—January 6. At a meeting held in John Lapham's house in Dartmouth, Jacob Mott and three others undertook to build a Meeting House for the people of God (in scorn called Quakers) 35 ft. long, 30 ft. wide and 14 foot stud. John Lapham's contribution was 5 lbs. The house was built the same year, and was the first one for worship in that town.

1706—January 28. He and his wife Mary had an account given them of what lands they owned in Providence, showing sundry parcels of 102 acres, 80 acres, 28 acres, 4 acres on Fox Hill, 6 acres in Aeck, lots in towns, etc.

1708—May 25. He and his wife Mary, and his son John and wife Mary, all of Dartmouth, confirmed a deed made by Major William Hopkins of Providence to Edward Manton of same place, declaring that certain lands in Providence, formerly of William Mann deceased, descended to his two only children, Mary and Abraham Mann, and that Abraham, dying intestate, his sister Mary Mann, heired of him, and that she married John Lapham, and had several children by him, where by an heir-at-law may succeed, and as fame doth credibly report that Abraham in his life time passed away all the above mentioned lands to Major William Hopkins, (cousin to said Mary Mann) and he having deeded to Edward Mantanch—therefore the confirmation.

1709—August 26. He and his wife Mary of Dartmouth for love and affection to sons, John and Nicholas, deeded to each a half part of all lands in Providence, divided and Undivided, except 4 acres on Fox Hill. On same date, he deeded to daughter, Mary Lapham 4 acres in Providence.

1709—December 5. Will proved 1710, Apr. 5. Ex's wife Mary and son John to wife Mary 2 Pounds a year for life, to be paid her by two sons, John and Nicholas, and a feather bed, a young cow, and all household stuff in dwelling house. To daughter Mary Dyer 80 Pounds to be paid her by John and Nicholas—10 lbs. a year by each, till paid. To son Nicholas half of all lands in Dartmouth, he having that part where dwelling now is, with orchard, and to him one half of weaving looms. To son John all the rest of housing and lands in Dartmouth, and difference in value between two sons portion, to be reclaimed by two men in the stock of cattle and horses, and so the sons made equal.

1710—April 5. Inventory 362 Pounds—15-1—Viz.—Housing a land 250 Pounds, old horse, 4 steers, heifer, 2 yearling, 5 swine, goats running at large, fowls, 2 oxen, 9 cows, 3 hives of bees, 4 spinning wheels, 2 looms, feather bed, flock bed, pewter, warming pan, Bible, testament and other books, plate 2-146 Pounds; Cash 13.30 Pounds. Wearing clothes (linen and woolen) b10-4 Pounds, etc.

John Lapham for the time was evidently possessed of more than an average amount of property. Of 29 inventories of Rhode Islanders, who died between the years 1680-1717 as given in Austin Gen. Dict., 16 were less 100 Pounds; 8 between 100-200 Pounds; 1 between 200 and 300 Pounds; 2 between 300-700 Pounds; 2 over 700 Pounds.

John L's inventory posted 362.15 Pounds, and when it is rem'bered, that four months previous to his death, he deeded to his children for "love and affection," all of his lands in Providence, which in 1706, mounted to several hundred acres, besides smaller pieces of probable special value, it is fair to presume that he held for the times, what might be a considerable large amount of property. Auth. Above records copied from Henry Lapham Chart, in possession of Mayor Roger D. Lapham of SanFrancisco, California.

MANN ANCESTRY

William Mann came to New England from Yeovilton and Ilchester Co., Somerset, England. He was active among the early Friends at Providence, where he d. abt. 1650. Frances Hopkins was b. at Yeovilton May 28, 1614; d. Feb. 26, 1700 at Dartmouth at the home of her son-in-law John Lapham. She was the dau. of William and Joan Arnold Hopkins. Joan Arnold was the sister of William Arnold, original proprietor of Providence and early settler of Pawtucket, R. I., he came to New England in 1635. In his party were his niece, Frances Hopkins Mann, her husband, William Mann, and her brother, Thomas Hopkins. The latter was the great-grandfather of Stephen Hopkins, Governor of Rhode Island, and Signer of the Declaration of Independence. He was also the great-grandfather of Esek Hopkins, the first Commander-in-Chief of the American Navy. Before coming to New England, the Arnold, Hopkins and Mann families were neighbors. Mann Ref. The Amer. Gen. 20-227, New England Hist. and Gen. Reg. 64, 69, Austins Gen. Dict. of R. I. p. 129. The Arnold family trace heir pedigree back to Caldualder, King of Britons 1100 A. D. Ref. Alberta Arnold Smith records. See Arnold Ancestry.

"THE AUGUSTUS LAPHAM ACCOUNT"

One of the early Lapham records; we find was made by Augustus Lapham and preserved by his descendants, entitled "Some Account of the Family of Laphams taken down in the year 1782. In this account it was related that:

"John Lapham, the first we find any account of in America, came from Devonshire, England, a weaver by trade, to Providence, at which place he married Mary Mann, daughter of William Mann, and settled near burying place hill. The Indian War breaking out they were obliged to retire to Rhode Island and their house was burned by the Indians. Some time after he went to Dartmouth and settled there, and had 4 sons and 1 daughter.

"Thomas, their second son after arriving at Mann's estate, built a house in Providence, on one of the seven acre lots toward the lower end of the town near where Dr. Gibbs has since lived.

"William, the third son, lived to grow up, fell into a melancholy state of mind and put an end to his life, by hanging in a tree.

"John, the eldest son, married Mary Russell, daughter of Joseph Russell of Dartmouth, whose wife was Elizabeth Fobes of Bridgewater and sister of William Fobes in Seconnet, by whom John had 5 sons and 9 daughters, viz.: Elizabeth, John, Thomas, Rebecca, Joseph, Mary, Frances, Benjamin, Ruth, Bathsheba, Joshua, Hannah, Sylvia and Elizabeth.

"Elizabeth the eldest married Amos Taber of Dartmouth, by whom she had two children, Hannah and Jethro, and died from fever when her son was about three months old.

"John, the second child, married Desire Howland, daughter of Benjam Howland of that town, by whom, he had two sons and one daughter, Benjamin, Jonathan and Jemima. His wife died in the year 1760 odd. He has since married a widow White, and now lives at the Nine Partners. He has lived some part of his life at Smithfield near Providence.

"Thomas, the third child, married Abigail Wilbur, daughter of Benjamin Wilbur, by whom he had four sons and five daughters, viz.: Sylvia, David, Phebe, Abigail, Thomas, Bathsheba, Jethro, Augustus, Lillis. David died when near twenty-one. Abigail at the same time, aged about sixteen, and both were buried in one grave. Lillis died when eight months old. The others all lived to marry and have children. He died when near seventy-four and his wife, Abigail about the same age.

"Rebecca the fourth child, married Barnabas Howland of Dartmouth, son of Benjamin Howland, by whom she had two sons and four daughters. All lived to marry and have children.

"Joseph, the fifth child, married Mary Ballou, daughter of Jonathan Ballou of Smithfield, by whom, he had nine children, viz.: Abner, Rebecca, Amy, Lovina, Naomi, John, (Frances), Mary and Abigail. Amy died, aged one year, nine month. Lovina died in her seventeenth year. Naomi lived only two weeks. The others all married and had children. He now lives in Cumberland.

"Mary, the sixth child, at about twenty years of age grew melancholy and became delirious but not very troublesome. She lives now at Glocester with her niece.

"Frances, the seventh child, married Nathan Bowdish, son of William Bowdish of Dartmouth, by whom she had two children. Both are married and now live at Oblong.

"Benjamin, the eighth child, married Lydia Ballou, daughter of Samuel Ballou of Smithfield, by whom he had three children, James, Mary, Lydia. They are all deceased and their mother also. He married the second time, Mary Mann, daughter of John Mann of Smithfield, by whom he had ten children, viz.: Lydia, Sarah, Stephen, Gideon, George, Elizabeth, Abigail, Silas, Benjamin and Ruth. All are living except, Gideon. Silas, Lydia, Stephen are married. They moved from Smithfield to Hoosac about twelve years ago.

"Ruth, the ninth child, married Seth Sherman, son of Daniel Sherman of Dartmouth, by whom she had two sons and three daughters of whom one son died young. She died about 1758.

"Bathsheba the tenth child, married John Gifford, son of Benjamin Gifford. They now live at the Nine Partners.

"Joshua, the eleventh child, married Hannah Sherman, daughter of David Sherman of Dartmonth, by whom he had ten children, all living but one. He now lives at Hoosac.

"Hannah, the twelfth child, married three husbands, Joseph Brown, Jacob Aldrich and Richard Estes. The last is now living. She had four children by Joseph Brown. They are all living.

"Silvia, the thirteenth child, died young.

"Elizabeth, the fourteenth child, lived to marry. Had one child and died. Her husband's name was Benjamin Sherman, son of Thomas Sherman of Dartmouth."

Note: The early records of the John Laphams family are found, with a few exceptions in Dartmonth, Mass., Rhode Island, Berkshire County, Mass., and New York State.

III (25) Phebe 4, b. Sept. 20, 1734.

IV Abigail 4, d.y.

V (26) Thomas 4, b. June 15, 1770.

VI (27) Bathshebe 4, b. Apr. 17, 1743.

VII (28) Jethro 4, b. June 14, 1747.

VIII Lillis 4, d.y.

IX (29) Augustus 4, b. Nov. 5, 1750; m. Apr. 6, 1775; Mary Scott; d. Feb. 26, 1828.

Thomas Lapham was admitted freeman at Smithfield, R. I., Feb. 4, 1733; was Dep. to Gen. Ct., almost continuously 1747-1752; appointed a Com. to run a boundary 1750; Judge of Ct. of Common Pleas 1750-1764. His will made Aug. 17, 1775, is recorded at Smithfield. In it he left (p. 33 "Unto my three grandsons, David Whipple, Job Whipple and Ephriam Whipple to be equally divided between them"). Probate Rec. Smithfield 1767-97 pp. 392-3. It was the opinion of S. F. Peckham, that Thomas Lapham moved from Dartmouth to Smithfield soon after his marriage 1730. He settled in "Blackstone Valley," where he built his first house near the Village of Albion. In 1766, he built a house on the high lands abt. one and one half miles due West of Manville. This house was a large two story house, typical of that period and is still standing. (1947)

In his will he left this property, his Homestead Farm, to his son Augustus Lapham, who lived there until his death, 1828. In a field back of his house is an "Old Burying Ground," where Thomas and his wife are undoubtedly buried. There are some twenty stones, but as was the custom among Friends, few of them are marked. Among those marked are the stones of David, Abigail and Lillis (1753).

S. F. Peckham writes. The Laphams must have owned a large tract of land around Manville. It is quite certain Thomas was very active in organizing the Smithfield Lower Meeting, near Lonsdale, which has been called the "Old Friends Meeting House" for more than a century.

Thomas Laphams had brothers John and Joshua, whose desc. settled in and around Macedon, N. Y. about 1791.

Auth. Miss Mary W. Peckham.

SOME ACCOUNT OF THOMAS LAPHAM'S CHILDREN

Taken down 4th of 3rd month 1819.

From Augustus Lapham Account.

"The oldest, Sylvia, married Ephraim Whipple by whom she had three sons and one daughter, David, Job and Ephraim. She was divorced from him and then married Solomon Lapham, son of Nicholas Lapham of Dartmouth, by whom she had six children, viz.: Rebecca, Thomas, Rhoda, William, Dutee and Ruth, who all moved into the country, except William. He now lives in Glocester, where his father moved. All of Solomon's children are married and have children.

"The next was Phebe who married Elezar Ballou, son of Samuel Ballou of Smithfield, by whom she had eleven children, viz.: Lydia, David, Jesse, Susanne, Jurah, Charlotte, Orvilla, Roena, Prussia, Arba and an infant, who died young.

"Thomas married Mary Harris, daughter of Jonathan Harris of Smithfield, by whom he had eight children, William, David, Jonathan, Olive, Job, Chloe, Isaac and Phebe.

"Bathsheba married a son of Stephen Wilcox of Dartmouth, by whom she had nine children, Willard, Wilbur, William, Elizabeth, Phebe, Mary, Aseneth, Josiah and Bathsheba.

"Juthro married Amy Basset, daughter of Joseph Bassett. She died after having three children, viz.: Abigail, Jesse and Levi. He married, a second wife, Sarah Whipple of Glocester, but had no children by her.

"Augustus who writes this Account, married Mary Scott, daughter of John Scott of North Providence, by whom he had nine children, Amos, Lydia, Sarah, Ruth, Thomas, David, Abigail, Eunice and Hannah. Sarah died aged sixteen of fever. Ruth died aged fifteen and one half years of the same disease. Thomas died aged five months, three days. Hannah died aged two years seven months.

"My brother Thomas, lost three children. William and David lived till men grown, and died of consumption. Chloe died of throat ale aged sixteen years.

Was Capt. of Militia at breaking out of war, and on May 28 was commissioned by Gov. Daniel D. Thompson of N. Y. State as a Capt. of a company in the reg. of Infantry in the County of Ontario. His patriotism was not to be proven for he yielded his desires to the wishes of his parents, who belonged to the Society of Friends.

The Old Quaker Church at Adams, Mass. is located near the home of Benjamin Lapham. It was built in 1786. It stands on a little knoll with the cemetery surrounding it, in which are many graves of Lapham descendants, and markers of some were copied by me this summer while on a trip with husband through Massachusetts and Vermont. (1950) Bertha B. Aldridge. At one end of cemetery is a large tree, in front of which is a huge boulder, with the following inscription plate.

In Memory

of those members and associates of the East Hoosick Society of Friends, who laying aside their religious scruples took up arms, in the War for Independence in Defense of their Homes and Liberties.

In the Friends Burial Ground before the Boulder lie: Oliver Cheesbrough, John Fisk, Abraham Howland, George Lapham d. 1st-1st Mo. 1832, George Martin, John Power, James Power, Sylvannus Scott.

Buried elsewhere: Noah Aldrich, Caleb Atwater, Gideon Braley, Gilbert Howland, David Jewell, Jesse Jewell, Thomas Power, Benjamin Slocum, John Wells, Samuel Wells.

Note: Before leaving Adams, Mass., we took several pictures of old Colonial Homes, where in Laphams had lived, the above Memorial Inscription, the Quaker Meeting House and Cemetery, the home of Susan B. Anthony, all of which gave me added zeal to complete my genealogy. Bertha Beal Aldridge.

Laphams were among first Quakers to settle in Town of Adams, Mass. The Laphams first appeared in Massachusetts in 1770, as nearly as can be estimated, and were at once one of the largest purchasers from the Proprietors. Within two years, this family had purchased about 800 acres, all in adjoining lots. This section was marked off into lots. The east and west lot of the same number was distinguished as being in the east or west range of the row. The Laphams bought lots 7, 8, and 9 in both ranges thus owning a territory a mile wide and 300 yards long. They also purchased two more 100 acre lots adjoining these on the west.

The purchases of Benjamin Lapham were half of lot 7 east range and the whole of lot 9, west range. This last was his home farm. This is the original homestead and was erected about 1775. It lies at the extreme west end of the settling lot. It is said that this structure has changed very little. Benjamin Lapham willed this farm to his sons, George and Benjamin.

The Joshua Lapham family were more closely associated with Adams, as they were more numerous, and large numbers of this family, still live there. Joshua Lapham White, resident of Dartmouth, married Hannah Sherman, daughter of David. In 1751 Joshua removed to Smithfield where his brother Benjamin had previously settled, and together they removed to Adams, Mass. We find the record of children of both families on the Friends Record. Joshua and Hannah had 10 children, ranging from 1748 to 1766. Most of them settled at Adams, Mass. Ruth the eldest married Isaac Jenks; Daniel married first Lydia Jenks, sister of Isaac and secondly, Patience Russell; Lydia married Stephen Rogers; Hannah married Humphrey Anthony; David married Judith Smith and had eight children; Abraham married Esther Aldrich and had seven children; Abraham removed to Macedon, N. Y., 1789, and became a powerful citizen. It is related that at the proposed building of the Erie Canal, the Quakers were disturbed because it seemed like trying to improve upon the works of the Creator. But Abraham Lapham opened his Bible, and read, that Jacob dug a well, and had thus done the same thing in a smaller scale, and allayed their fears. Phebe married Eleazur Smith of Adams; Nathan married Elizabeth Arnold, daughter of Stukely Arnold of Smithfield, as neighbor in Adams of the Laphams on the east road. Asa married Hannah Aldrich—removed to Macedon, N. Y., Nehemiah the youngest died young.

Daniel Lapham, eldest son of Joshua, bought of the Proprietors the north half of lot 31, which lay west of and adjoining lot 30. This included half of the Quaker Meeting House property and ran north as far as the Hathaway farm on both sides of the road. Joshua's homestead still stands opposite the Meeting House on Friend Street. Isaac Killey acquired the south half of the same lot and his tannery was situated on the brook on Friend Street.

In 1797 the heirs of Daniel Lapham with Isaac Killey and John Russell, deeded 3¾ acres of land with the Meeting House to John Wells and David Lapham who were probably trustees, and who in turn deeded it to the Friends Society in 1799. Isaac Jenks and wife owned lot No. 9, east range, opposite their uncle Benjamin Lapham. Joshua Lapham owned the remaining portions of the 800 acre tract which would comprisa four full lots and half of another. He lived opposite the Meeting House, West Road, where he died in 1795. In 1793 Joshua Lapham made his will and bequeathed his house and furnishings and land on west side of the road to his daughter, Hannah Anthony, and to his son-in-law, Humphrey Anthony, he gave his remaining lands on the east of the road.

In 1924, Memorial tablets marking the homesteads of Benjamin and Joshua Lapham were erected by the Adams Society of Friends Descendants, and presented to the Town of Adams. The original house is still in use, erected probably about 1775. At this place an invocation was offered by Rev. Dr. Shumaker of the Adams Congregational Church. The marker was unveiled by Miss Sarah Ashley, of Holyoke, a descendant in the seventh generation. The design of the tablet is beautiful. The central vignettes bear in relief the old Quaker Meeting House, and the Town Seal of East Hoosick.

The Quaker Meeting House was erected in 1784 by the East Hoosick Society of Friends. This old building so closely associated with the settlement of the Town of Adams reflects in its sturdy construction, and simplicity the character of its builders. (standing 1950) The present Town of Adams was settled soon after 1770, by a group of Quakers, most of them from Smithfield, R. I., and nearby Town of Dartmouth, Mass. They were neighbors and friends of the settlers in nearby New Prvoidence, on Stafford Hill, who were staunch Baptists. The Friends soon settled and owned nearly all the farms in the Valley. They worshipped for a time in their homes. In 1784, they commenced the erection of this building, and it was used continuously by them for over sixty years. In their transaction of business, the men and women held separate meetings and kept separate records.

In their religious service, the women sat on the left side, where they received the benefit of the fire place. On the elevated seats were seated visiting preachers or leaders. If there were two Sunday services, those driving from a distance brought their lunch and stayed to both services. The street on which this Church was located was called Friend Street. One of the early settlers on this road was David Anthony, whose family was destined to occupy a prominent place in the town, and whose great grand daughter, Susan B. Anthony, became a Nation—and a world-wide figure—Susan was a Lapham descendant.

The Meeting House is under the care of the Adams Society of Friends Descendants. The Society also cares for the burial ground in front of the Meeting House, where the pioneer Friends rest in their unknown and unmarked graves. The cemetery was used by the Friends for a considerable period before the Meeting House was built, and not until 1797 was the land formally deeded by Isaac Killey, John and Patience Lapham, John Russell and James Lapham to David Lapham and John Wells, who held it for a brief period before turning it over to the Society of Friends.

Joshua Lapham moved from Dartmouth to Smithfield, R. I. between 1749 and 1751. About 1770, he migrated to East Hoosick, Berkshire Co., Mass. He and his family owned a great deal of land in and about the town of Adams. His farm was situated on both sides of the East Road, and his house stood until 1906, when it was burned. Joshua and his wife were devoted members of the Society of Friends and are buried in unmarked graves in the Old Friends Meeting House Burial Ground at Adams, Mass. The site of his home is marked by a tablet bearing the following inscription:

Smithfield, the 17th of 12th mo. 1770. Respected Friend. These may inform that I received thy letter of the 12th inst. concerning one of thy pupils base conduct, in breaking the windows of our meeting house, and agreeably to thy request therein, I hereby inform that our meetings for business are held on the last fifth day of every month; so that our next will be on the last fifth day (on Thursday) of that instant, at the house where the windows were broken. A meeting for worship begins at eleven o'clock and commonly holds two hours, then begins the meeting for business. Therefore if the youth appears before us, I intend to send thee an account of his second progress. I am glad to hear such proper method proposed for the settling of his scandalous deed—and that the affairs of the college be so conducted, as to be a means of promoting virtue and piety, which are far preferable to arts and sciences is the real desire of one who wishes well unto all.

The Lapham Acc't by Augustus Lapham states that Bathsheba Lapham m. a son of Stephen Wilcox of Dartmouth. There were two Stephen Wilcox's at this time Stephen Wilcox (Daniel 4, Daniel 3, Daniel 2, Edward 1) of Dartmouth, b. 28, May 1707, m. Mary Ricketson, and had a son Jirah. This Wilcox family belonged to the "Society of Friends," as did the Laphams.

Jireh and Bathsheba Lapham Wilcox lived at Glocester, R. I. and Smithfield, Uxbridge, Mass., where Jireh Wilcox was listed as a resident in the Census of 1774, and in that of 1790. For some years after their marriage they seemed to have lived in Uxbridge, Mass. Four of their children as named in the Lapham Account, are recorded in Uxbridge Friend's Records, with one other not given in the Account. S. F. Peckham calls this son Jireh; Increase A. Lapham calls him Jirah. In the Uxbridge Rec. he is given as Augustus. In his will, made in 1775, Thomas S. Lapham gives unto my daughter Bathsheba Wilcox, that piece of land, that I now own adjoining to the land, where on she dwells in Glocester."

The above Augustus Lapham wrote "Lapham Account," to which is referred many times in this book. He lived all his life in Smithfield, inheriting the Homestead Farm of his father, which was near the town of Mann Ville, R. I. He and his wife were members of Smithfield Friends, Lower Meeting near Sayles Ville, R. I. He and his wife and their children, who died young are buried in unmarked graves in the Burial Ground, back of the house, which his father built, in 1763. His wife Mary (Scott) Lapham, descended from Richard and Catherine (Marbury) Scott, through John 2, Sylvanus 3, John 4 and John 5 Scott. She was a sister of Job Scott, the famous Quaker preacher.

Ref: Rec. of Ralph M. Lapham, Glens Falls, N. Y., a descendant; Amer. Gen. Vol. XXIV No. 1, p. 246, with references.

The following account of Ralph Mortimer Lapham of Glens Falls was taken from records of his ancestors (See Family 185B).

The first Lapham in this country of our line was John Lapham, who was born in 1635, in Devonshire, England, and when a young man settled in Providence, Rhode Island. He married Mary, daughter of William Mann of Providence, Rhode Island. His house was burned by the Indians, and so moved to Dartmouth, Massachusetts. They had five children of which John Jr. became next in line of our ancestry. John Jr., the second generation, was the oldest son and in due time married Mary, daughter of Joseph Russell. Their fourteen children had the interesting names of Elizabeth, Rebecca, Thomas, Mary, Ruth, Benjamin, John, Joseph, Bathsheba, Joshua, Hannah, Elizabeth and Sylvia. John Jr. was one of four representatives in General Assembly.

The third generation in our line was Benjamin, who married first, Lydia Ballou, m. second Mary Mann, daughter of John Mann. They had twelve children. The family moved from Smithfield, Rhode Island to Hoosic in 1770, where Benjamin died in 1788.

Stephen Lapham was the fourth generation in our line, and the first Lapham to move to the town of Queensbury, N. Y., so that there is considerable information available and he must have been an interesting man of his day. He was born Nov. 6, 1755 and m. Rachel, dau. of Jonathan Hussey of Salem on North Horrich, Apr. 22, 1777. In 1785 he moved to Queensbury, and his wife rode on a pillion, or tandern style on horse back as there were no real roads at that time. He settled on what is now known as the old Haviland farm owned by Dr. Leroy Haviland where his thirteen children were born. The farm must have been a very large one, as provision was made for so many acres of wood land and tillable land for each child. Mr. Hydes book quotes the assessment roll of 1785-1790, in which Stephen Lapham 4 owned 260 acres, valued at $2600, a farm house at $900, and a barn at $100. This was a relatively high holding or assessment for that day. Farming was, of course, his principal occupation, although, like many others he did considerable lumbering. Pine logs were drawn to Albany, and sent down the river to become masts on sailing vessels.

Stephen Lapham was a member of the "Society of Friends," or what is usually known as a Quaker. His first home was burned, but was apparently quickly replaced on the same farm. The list of voters in Queensbury for the year of 1786, numbered him among its 36 land owners, entitled to vote. He was a man of affairs in his day, and held many public offices, such as Pound Keeper, Path Master, Fence Viewer, and Appraiser of Damage, Commissioner of Highways, Overseer of Poor, and Assessor. Five of the daughters married, and went to the far west (Rochester). Three married Sissons, and two Tuckers.

The principal antique, still in existence in the family, is an old writing desk, made by Jonathan Hussey, father of Rachel. This desk is still in good repair, and has two very clever secret drawers. Jerome Lapham is now the proud keeper of the desk, which tradition dictates, shall be passed on to the eldest Lapham of each generation. Stephen Lapham was killed Jan. 23, 1802, by a fall from the roof of the Quaker Church, then being built at Sanford's Ridge. He was buried in the Quaker Cemetery adjoining, but no stone marker exists, for fear of Indians disturbing the grave.

Jonathan, son of above Stephen, was born Apr. 20, 1798, and married Elizabeth Shoffield Healey in 1821. (See Family 62A) He bought the land where the Glens Falls, New York "City Hall" now stands, and the family lived there until it was sold by Benjamin F. Lapham. Holden's Hist. lists his houses as one of eight brick buildings in the village in 1836. Jonathan became a partner in the Mercantile store of James Morgan and entered the lumber business for himself in 1850. He also became interested in freighting by Canal, and was instrumental in favoring the horse railroad to Fort Edward, which later resulted in the steam railroad, coming to Glens Falls, N. Y. Jonathan was supervisor four terms, and director in the First National Bank of Glens Falls, and Glens Falls Insurance Co. His three children were Jerome, Fletcher and Benjamin. The two Lapham families now represented in Glens Falls, here divide their ancestral line. Jerome Lapham was a prominent citizen of his day. (See Family 96A)

Benjamin Franklin Lapham (See Family 96B) grandfather of the present Jerome F. and Ralph M. Lapham was best known as Frank. He was born Sept. 1822, and on Oct. 6, 1840, m. (1) Anna Row. They had four children. Following the death of Anna Row Lapham in 1857, he married Mary Mason, with again four children. He was trustee of Village, Fire Warden, First Water Commissioner and Member of Board of Health. He put in the first piece of pipe, and superintended the building of the first reservoir of the village of Glens Falls about 1871. Wishing to install an 18" pipe, he was told 12" would be enough but lived to see a 24" used and fire reservoirs built. Frank Lapham's principal business was the drilling of wells annd installing of pumps.

VII Job 5.

Gilbert Howland of Adams, Mass., traded his farm of 51 acres to McFarland for 500 acres located in Manchester in 1798. The family arrived Feb. 1800. The deed given by Oliver Phelps was dated April 25, 1799, and conveys lots 39, 41, 76, and parts 38, 84, 92, and 36 in consideration of $1503. Township 12—Range 2. On the day after the family arrived, a great snow storm raged, and in its midst, they went to the cabin of Job Howland, resident of Farmington. As Gilbert, striding through the snow, saw the brother, Job, standing in the door, he shouted, as his greeting, "Job, you liar, you said it never snowed out here." The two families resided together until a log house was built, just west of William Steele's place.

Mrs. Gilbert Howland (Elizabeth Lapham) brought a package of apple seeds, from Adams, Mass., and finding all busy planting beans, potatoes and other things for more immediate use, herself went to work, and fired a large bush heap, near the house, and upon its site, prepared the earth and in drills, planted the seeds. From these seeds grew trees which are standing today (1876) evidence of an enterprising woman's forethought. The family consisted of Gilbert and wife Elizabeth and seven children. In 1819 Gilbert divided his lands into four farms among his children, and the old estate long remained in their hands.

Taken from Autobiography of Dr. Philip Mason, the following. He says: "Benjamin Lapham, Jr., the father of the foregoing children, was a brother of my mother (Ruth Lapham). He and his family emigrated from Adams, Berkshire Co., Mass., to Geaugo Co., near Chagrin Falls, where he died about the year 1834 or 1835. His wife died about the year 1828 or 1829."

Auth: Autobiography Dr. Philip Mason, p. 71-72. (Permission of C. Bradley). Dr. Philip Mason's book, p. 125 says:

"But to return to my mother's home (Ruth Lapham). I had not been there long before it was determined, that my mother and I should make a visit to the place where I was born, in Adams, Berkshire Co., Mass. We started our conveyance, a one-horse open buggy. The distance was over 100 miles, requiring a three day's drive. Our route was down the Mohawk, and across the Hudson River at Troy. The weather was dry and the roads dusty, but during our second day's journey there came up a dark cloud with considerable wind. We stopped at the first convenient house (etc.) In due time we reached our journey's end, at the house of my mother's brother whose name was Lapham (George) (Sister of Ruth Lapham). His residence was the homestead of the Lapham family. The house was an old fashioned one story dwelling, built on a gentle slope toward the south, so that the cellar in front gave the appearance of a story and a half, etc. (The compiler visited this home July 1950) After some day's rest with the only family of my mother's brothers and sisters that remained in this part of the country, we visited my Uncle James Mason, my father's brother."

Also from p. 131 "Autobiography of Philip Mason" (whose mother, Ruth Lapham 3, was sister to Benjamin 3 and George 3). "From there I went to see another uncle of my own, my mother's brother, whose name was Benjamin Lapham. The one I had visited in Adams, Mass., was named George. Uncle Benjamin lived near the Village of Chagrin, Ohio, where he and his whole family were then living, they had moved from Adams, Berkshire Co., Mass., a few years before. I had had but little acquaintance with this uncle and his family, but was kindly received, and treated in the most hospitable manner. They had several children who were yet single. I enjoyed a two day's visit with them in the most pleasant manner but have never seen any of the family since, and have lost all certain knowledge of them and their whereabouts."

Note: From these articles the compiler learned of other Lapham families in Ohio, the names of whom are recorded in this book.

David Lapham came from Adams, at an early day settled on the Joseph Button farm. He was a son of Joshua Lapham, a native of Rhode Island. He married Judith Smith by whom he raised a family of several children, none of whom settled here. He removed back to Adams, where he died. (Hist. of Dandby, Vt., p. 184).

Deed at Adams, 1st inst.
Mr. David Lapham, aged 76. He was a kind husband, an affectionate parent, and an exemplary Christian. From early life he had been a member of the Society of Friends and as "A Shock of Corn which is fully ripe, he was gathered to hisfathers". (From bound vol. of Pittsfield Angus (Mass.)
Note: Isaac and Mary Smith Lapham are buried at Farmington Cemetery under the tree by roadside. Isaac's mother, Judith Smith Lapham, is also buried there. David, father of Isaac, raised his large family at Farmington, N. Y. but went back to Adams, Mass., where he died. Cem. Rec. Farmington, N. Y.

FAMILY 40, (SEE FAMILY 14) SMITHFIELD, R. I., MACEDON, N. Y. LAPHAM

Abraham Lapham 4 (Joshua 3, John 2, John 1) b. July 15, 1755, Smithfield, R. I., son of Joshua and Hannah (Sherman) Lapham; m. (1) May 29, 1776, Esther Aldrich, b. Jan. 30, 1756, at Uxbridge, Mass; m. (2) Hannah (Aldrich) Lapham; b. April 7, 1764, at Uxbridge, Mass. Abraham's father, Joshua, was a grandson of John Lapham I, and Hannah Shermon; his mother was a great granddaughter of Philip Sherman, who came to Mass. in 1635. Esther was the dau. of Peter and Esther (Comstock) Aldrich. Peter was of the fourth gen. from George and Katherine (Seald) Aldrich, who came from Derbyshire, England in 1631. Esther Comstock was a sister of Nathan Comstock, Sr. of Farmington and Otis Comstock who married Huldah Freeman in 1792, the first marriage in Farmington, N. Y., and was desc. from William Ballard, who came to Weymouth, Mass., in 1635. After his marriage, Abraham Lapham resided a few years in N. Adams. In 1789, he with others purchased a township in the new grant in Western N. Y. He went to the purchase in 1790 and was said to have been a resident. He obtained considerable land, and old deeds have been found which prove that Abraham owned at one time 2,970 acres of land in Township 12 (See Family 14).

In 1791 Abraham Lapham brought his wife and children, coming then in company with Henry Wilbur and his family. Their new home was located among the Friends' in Farmington, which was later known as Zachariah Van Deusen farm. The members of that community, though, disapproved for their venture, and disowned by the parent society in Mass., still held regular services. The meetings were held from house to house, and the home of Abraham and Esther Lapham was soon known as a place of meeting. (The house still stands, 1953, recently repaired and inhabited. In 1794, the colony was visited by a committee from Mass., and one of them was entertained in the home of Abraham Lapham. In 1795, Abraham with his family removed to Township 12, range 3, lot 17, and built a new home. It was about one mile southwest of the present village of Macedon, home farm now owned by Fred Martz. He planted soon after coming to the place, one of the first orchards in the township. It is claimed that he built the first frame house in the town on this site prior to 1800. Later it was moved to Rochester road now known as Palmyra road or Route 31, the first house West of Chimney Corners on south side of road. This house is still in use. 1795-1953.

It was a hospitable home and Abraham Lapham was ever ready to share with those that come beneath his roof. (See "Pioneers of Macedon"). Men came to visit, or to secure homes in the new country, and whatever his table afforded, was freely shared with his guest. It is said that on one occasion when a neighbor called, the family were about to partake of mush and milk. He asked the caller to eat with them, and then called out to his wife, "Esther, Esther, put more water in the milk, let there be plenty for all." In this home, the weary found a resting place, and the oppressed were protected and encouraged. He was interested in the welfare of others; thoughtful of the needy, and a warm friend of the Indians, and did much for them. He was interested in public improvements and quick to give an answer. When the building of the Erie Canal was being discussed, Elias Hicks opposed, said "If the Lord had wanted a waterway here He would have made one." At once Abraham rose and quietly said "Jacob digged a well." Ira his eldest son, was much interested in Temperance Work, and of his own means procured a marble shaft to be erected at Macedon Center, N. Y., to commemorate the total obstinence of that town. The town is still temperance. The last years of Abraham's life were spent in Chautauqua Co., to which he removed with his Ira. Some time before this, his wife, Esther died, and he married the widow of his brother Asa, who was Esther's sister. Asa came to Macedon 1791. Abraham died at Collins, N. Y. July 3, 1836. — Tombstone record at Farmington, N. Y. Friends' Cemetery. He was buried at Collins and later removed to Farmington, N. Y. adjoining the Farmington Friends Orthodox Meeting House.

This brief history of the Farmington Friends Meeting, necessarily begins with the Pioneer Settlers, who followed closely the Sullivan Expedition of 1789, which cleared Western New York of its Indian occupants. Oliver Phelps and Nathaniel Gorham after purchasing two million, six hundred thousand acres of land, for a few thousand dollars soon offered it for sale in quantities to suit the purchaser. The first sale was that of Township No. 11, Range 3, to a company of twelve men from Adams, Mass., namely, Nathan Comestock, Benjamin Russell, Abraham Lapham, Benjamin Lapham, Edmund Jenks, Jeremiah Brown, Ephiaim Fisk, Nathan Aldrich, Nathan Herrendeen, Stephen Smith, Benj. Richerson, Dr. Daniel Brown. Those who became residents were Comstock, Lapham, Herrendeen, Aldrich and Brown. Many of the pioneers were members of the "Society of Friends". An early discipline was in effect, that any of its members contemplating any important enterprise, especially that of emigration, must report that intention to their meeting for consent. After establishing their homes, we read that meetings were held from house to house. A Committee of Philadelphia Friends visited the Farmington Friends, and finding them prospering, interceded with the Mass. meeting which had disowned them, and they were restored to membership; in 1796 we find a double log house erected, part being used for a school house, and part for Religious meetings. This was destroyed by fire—1803. Unfortunately all records were destroyed.

At a Quarterly Meeting of Friends held at Easton Feb. 2, 1803, a committee was appointed to visit the "Preparation Meeting" at Farmington, N. Y., and reported that they believed a usefulness would arise from a monthly meeting, being allowed them, agreeable to the proposal of Saratoga meeting of which they had been members since their restoration. At the first monthly meeting Stephen Aldrich was chosen clerk, meeting held at Palmyra, N. Y., Jan. 26, 1804. Plans were made for the new meeting house. The first meeting in the new house was held Oct. 26, 1804. In 1816, the growth of the Society caused an inconvenience, from the limited capacity of the "Meeting House".

Plans were made to enlarge it, but after much discussion, a new building was erected. Descendants of Abraham Lapham now attend this church (1953).

Auth: Rec. of Margaret Lapham, Mentor, Ohio; Bertha Lorana Morton Kibler of Burton, Ohio. Bertha is a descendant of Lorana Lapham 7, and Daniel O. Dunn. We have just learned of Margaret and Bertha and are very happy to have their records (1950). The compiler and husband visited homes of Margaret and Bertha Aug. 11, 1950, and received a most royal welcome. Extracts taken from "Note Book," kept by Lorana Lapham, while on a visit to Dutchess County and the World's Fair in company with Cousins William and Lorana Lapham in the Fall of 1853. (Former home of her parents.)

(Lorana Lapham, dau. of Solomon Lapham & Lovicy Rider, age 23, in 1853, lived in Parkman, Geaugo Co., Ohio. Her cousins were William, aged 36 and Lorana age 28, son and dau. of Seneca Lapham. Lorana, age 23, who wrote the "Note Book" married Daniel Dunn of Parkman, and her daughter, Emily Dunn Morton, now lives in Burton, Geaugo Co., Ohio.

Left Parkman Sept. 6, for Painesville in a carriage, arrived at Painesville about 7 o'clock on the evening of the same day.

Sept. 8th: Left Buffalo this morning. Left the Falls about 5 o'clock p. m. for Lockport.

Sept. 9th: Spent the day in Lockport visiting with Lorana's cousin, etc.

Sept. 10th: Left Lockport this morning for Auburn.

Sept. 13th: We left Tully this morning in an open carriage for Cousin Solon's and found him without much trouble. (We were very warmly received and anticipate on having a very good visit.) Compiler visited this same home 1951, and visited with Solon's descendants.

Wednesday 14th: A very rainy and unpleasant day, consequently, I have been obliged to stay in the house all day, but notwithstanding all this, I have enjoyed myself very much in visiting with Cousin Solon and Mary.

Friday 16th: Cleared off cool and pleasant this morning. Enjoyed a very pleasant view of surrounding country. After a walk, Solon, Will, Lorana and I rode over to Mr. Clark's.

Monday 19th: Left Cousin Solon's early this morning for Syracuse, etc.

Wednesday 21st: We got into Poughkeepsie about nine o'clock and rode all over town trying to find Uncle Fayette, and at last found where his wife lived, but he was not at home, and Lorana and I did not get out of the carriage. We concluded to go right on to Cousin Phebe Bullard's and had a great time finding the place, as Will had forgotten the road. We got there about five o'clock and found the house locked, so we went on up to Cousin Berthania Prays, where we found Phebe and her husband.

Thursday 22nd: Lorana and I stayed at Berthania's last night, etc.

Saturday 24th: This morning, Phebe, Albert Pray, Will, Lorana and I started for Shutsville to visit Aunt Lorana Wyman. We got to Aunt Lorana's about 6 o'clock in the evening, and she was very glad to see us.

Sunday 25th: In the afternoon Cousin William, Phebe and I went to a meeting of the Christian Church and there met Cousin Rachel Gildersleeve and her husband, and went home with them and stayed all night. I there saw her mother, my mother's oldest sister. Belinda Halsted, a second cousin was there. Her husband's name is Robert.

Thursday 29th: Got up early this morning and got ready to go to Uncle David Ryder's with Rachel and her husband. Oh, how I wish mother was with me. She would enjoy herself so much among the hills and rocks, she used to climb when a girl.

Friday 30th: I should have said, that on the way we called on Alva Bushnell, whose wife is a second cousin of mine. She was a daughter of Solon Lapham and lives on the old homestead. I also saw the place where my great grandfather, Benjamin Lapham, and my grandfather, Pazzi Lapham lived and the Lapham Burying Ground right cross road from house.

Wed. Oct. 5th: Got up this morning at 5 o'clock, and started for Poughkeepsie. We got to Poughkeepsie about ten o'clock and went to Uncle Fayette's, and stayed till five o'clock, when we took a Barge for New York.

Thurs. 6th: Arrived at N. Y. about 5 o'clock this morning, took a ferry boat and crossed over to Brooklyn, and took breakfast at Cousin Tasa's about eight. (Tacy Wyman).

Sunday, Oct. 9th: Cousin Harris Wyman came over this morning to visit with us, and in the afternoon Allen Lapham (Solon's son) and Thompson Ryder came over and we took a walk to a place called Brooklyn Heights, where we had a splendid view of the Hudson and the shipping.

Mon., Oct. 10th: This morning Lorana and Delia Lapham went over to Jersey City to see a Clairvoyant Doctor, who told Lorana that her lungs were affected, etc. William went with me to see my step-brother, Scott Young, who is on Nassau St., No. 25.

Tues., Oct. 11: Harris and Allen Lapham and wife spent the evening with me.

Wed., Oct. 12: Left N. Y. City, and are on our way home.

Mon., Oct. 17: Left Pittsburg this morning on the express train at 6 o'clock, etc. This ends my journey.

Oct. 21, 1850, who came to Macedon township in 1796 and settled on lot 33. He was born in Conway, Mass., son of Seth and Leah (Nash) Beal. Seth Beal was a soldier of the Revolution and was a descendant of the John Beal, who came from Hingham England to Hingham, Mass., in 1638, in the ship Diligent. Leah Nash was descended from James Nash of Weymouth. Deborah Lapham was the eldest daughter of Abraham Lapham 4. After her death in 1812, he married Dec. 2, 1813, Cynthia Braley Lapham, b. May 25, 1774; d. Mar. 10, 1845, widow of David Lapham, Deborah's brother. Two sons of his family, Ira and DeWitt, lived and died upon their father's purchase, and were well known in the community. Bernard Beal was one of the first inspectors of schools. He was also actively engaged in the commerce of the Erie Canal after its completion, having been the owner of a boat, which did considerable business. The canal after its opening furnished opportunities not only for business enterprise, but also for travel and pleasure. Bernard Beal lived to see the Erie Canal. This Beal homestead has housed five generations of Beals, it now being occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Marshall McClouth and family, and Robert Beal. Mrs. McClouth was a twin daughter, Cora Beal, dau. of William Beal.

FAMILY 74, (SEE FAMILY 40) ROLLIN, MICHIGAN LAPHAM

Stephen Lapham 5, (Abraham 4, Joshua 3, John 2, John 1) b. Oct. 2, 1786, Macedon, N. Y.; d. July 6, 1862 at Farmington, Mich., son of Abhaham; m. (1) Margaret Robinson; m. (2) Camilla Aldrich in June 1833. Stephen pioneered at Rollin, Mich. They cut logs and housed them on two sides. In this way they succeeded in building one of the nicest log houses in the woods. (Beal genealogy by William James Beal, P. 13).

The following article shows in part, what many of our Lapham and Beal pioneers had to contend with when they settled in southern Michigan.

"In May, 1833, the township of Rollin was an unbroken wilderness, inhabited only by the red men and their dusky families. The only roads were the trails made by the Indians in going from lake to lake and around their borders. In June following, the first family settled in the township on land located by Stephen Lapham, east one-half of the south west one-half of section 4. A log cabin was built, now gone to decay, but memories still linger. There must have been many a sad and lonesome hour passed by this family; not a house within a dozen miles; not a man to say "good morning" to; all alone with his wife and family. How few there are who are willing to take such a step. But Mr. Lapham was not long to remain alone in the wild woods of Rollin. In October, Joseph Beal, and his son, Porter, settled in this section. Joseph Beal was a brother of Bernard Beal who married Deborah Lapham (see Family 70).

"In 1834, there were but twenty-three settlers. How anxious these pioneer men and women were to get a little piece of ground cleared on which to plant a little corn and a few potatoes.

"At what time the Friends held their first meeting is not known, but probably 1836-37. Their first house of worship was built on Thomas Brownell's farm, about one mile east of Addison.

"In some way, after a few years of subduing the new country, caused almost everyone to have fever and ague. Sometimes in late summer, fall, and early winter, a third of the people would be sick.

"Who of us can ever forget those ague eccentricities? How the cold chills would run through the spinal column, sending a shiver through the whole system. Fires were of no avail, and the hot sun of summer only aggravates the disease. How the blood settled blue and ominous under our finger nails. But after a season a warm flash is felt, another—the ice melts. How genial those first glowings of the stage. Warmer and warmer come those heat waves, until the fierce heat of the tropics burn through body and limb like a fiery furnace.

"How we quaff the cool water. Again a change comes—a slight moisture in the hands, a few drops on the forehead, and we hail with joy the third and last stage. Thicker and faster comes the perspiration. But this ceases at last, and after perhaps three hours we consider ourselves comparitively well, until the next attack, which might come the same day, usually the day after."

Rev. Stephen L. Ramsdell, son of Jonathan Ramsdell writes in "Pioneers of Macedon":

Jonathan Ramsdell was born in Cummington, Hampshire Co., Mass., July 11, 1781. His parents, Thomas and Hannah Gannett Ramsdell, were staunch members of the Presbyterian Church of Fairport, N. Y., and he was brought up strictly in that faith. It was considered wrong in those times to have fire in churches, and I have heard my father say that their minister in winter weather, preacher with overcoat and mittens on. It created quite a stir in the church, when some of the elderly ladies in the church, dared to bring foot-stoves into the Lord's house. These stoves consisted of a tin box, about a foot square and eight inches high, perforated with holes, and set in a wooden frame, and into which was placed a small basin of burning coals. The ladies put their feet upon this box during service.

Jonathan Ramsdell left home at the age of twenty, and came into Western New York, whither his older brother, Gideon had preceded him. He made the journey on horse back in March, and he said that when he reached the summit of the mountains. about twenty miles from home, he could look back, see the snow covered hills of Cummington, and could look forward and see the green fields of the West. He then stood up in the stirrups of his saddle, and swinging his hat bade old Cummington goodbye. He added, "did not say that I never should go back, but I never have". He never did, though my mother, who was born in an adjoining county, often wanted to visit their old home.

After reaching the settlement, he soon purchased land in what was then the township of Palmyra, Ontario Co., but which afterward became Macedon, N. Y., Wayne Co. He made additional purchases from time to time afterwards, until he came to own over 500 acres.

About the year 1806, he sought and won the affection of Lydia, daughter of Abraham and Esther Lapham, she being seventeen, and he twenty-five years of age. She and her parents were Quakers, and it was contrary to the tenets of that Society to marry anyone outside of its membership. It thus became necessary for her to leave her Society, or for him to leave his Church. There were hardly any Presbyterians in the new country at that time, and the Quakers largely predominated in numbers and influence. When a young man wishes to win a beautiful woman, he is apt to be willing to accept a change of creed, if by so doing, he can gain a prize. However, whatever were the impelling motives, to begin with, it is certain that my father became a genuine Quaker and a staunch defender of that faith. Having in due form, become a member of the Quaker Society: The next thing was to have the marriage solemnized after the proper order. Written proposals of marriage had to be presented before the meeting and acted upon; and the written consent of the parents of the contracting parties, must be obtained.

Here came a hitch in the proceedings, while my father's father regarded it as a good marriage for his son, he was a strict Presbyterian, and did not believe much in the forms of the Quakers, and especially in their peculiar ways, and so he flatly refused to give any written consent to be presented to the meeting. He evidently considered that unnecessary.

There was an eccentric old Quaker minister named Caleb McCumber, with whom my father enjoyed very intimate relations, and in his perplexity, he sought his counsel. Having ascertained that my grandfather had no real objection to the marriage, he told my father, that he would fix matters right. Caleb McCumber was on very friendly terms with my grandfather, and they frequently exchanged visits. Not long after the talk he had with my father, Caleb McCumber called upon Thomas Ramsdell (great great grandfather of compiler of this book) at home in Egypt, N. Y., known as Ranney Farm. (Home built 1815. Still stands) and the interview was after this manner. A loud rap was heard at the door, and was responded to with an equally loud, "Come in," and when the caller entered, it was, "How does thee do, Thomas?" and "Good Morning, Mr. McCumber, take a chair." "No, I can't stop long. I wanted to know if thee has any objection to thy son Jonathan's marrying Lydia Lapham?" "No, certainly not," was the reply. "Well, farewell." "But set down, Mr. McCumber," said my grandfather. "No, I can't this time, you have told me what I wanted to know, farewell."

When the proper time came in the monthly meeting, my father presented the written consent of his mother, and Caleb McCumber stated the consent obtained verbally from my grandfather. This was not just according to the dicipline of the Society of Friends, but was considered lawful under the circumstances.

In due time, the young couple married themselves, according to the Friends usage, in a public congregation in the Farmington Meeting House. From this marriage there were eleven children.

My father erected a double log house upon his purchase, and in 1827, he built a large two story frame house, which he continued to live in until his death on Feb. 4, 1862. (This house still stands, and the farm is known as "The Fry Farm," 1950, Macedon Center, N. Y.) A road was cut through from the sign board at the Tannery to the frame house for his benefit. (The Tannery School House is at this location).

My father from my earliest recollection, till the close of a long life was a faithful and earnest preacher of the Gospel, and a devoted Christian man. (Jonathan Ramsdell was a brother to Lucy Ramsdell, who married Fayette Lapham, see Family 86).

There was a meeting every week at the Friends Meeting House at eleven o'clock on Wednesday, and though managing a large farm, and working hard himself, I never knew him to stay away from meeting, unless prevented by sickness and that was rare. My father lived for nearly sixty years in this community, sustaining an unblemished reputation, a spotless integrity, and irreproachable character. His life work was ended at the ripe age of eighty years. (Was Commissioner of Schools, Macedon, 1823, Wayne Co. Hist. P. 330).—B. B. A.

VII Thomas C. 6, b. Oct. 30, 1823.

The following memorial was prepared by the surviving children of Thomas C. Hance, from personal knowledge, and from Historical papers in their possession. It was written in grateful remembrance of the pure life and sterling virtues of their venerated father.

Thomas C. Hance was born in Prince Frederick Calvert Co., Maryland, Sept. 27, 1782, son of Benjamin and Sarah (Dare) Hance, and a direct descendent of the sixth generation from John Hance, a London merchant who settled his son John on a large farm in Calvert Co., Md., soon after Lord Baltimore established the Colony of Maryland. The family all appear to be staunch Protestants. On his mother's side he was a direct descendent of the Dare family on the James River in Virginia of whom Virginia Dare was the first child born to English parents on this continent.

Thomas Hance had an innate love of the beautiful flowers and fruit. He brought from the old home in Maryland in the spring of 1806, roots of the carnation and rose, and scions of the apple, pear and cherry for his father's orchard. Many of the best orchards in Farmington, Palmyra and Macedon, N. Y. were supplied with trees and scions from his father's nurseries. At a later date he established the first nursery in Macedon, and was the first to engage in a general merchandise business.

On the fourth day of December, 1817, he married Esther, the youngest daughter of Abraham and Esther Lapham, in the Friends Meeting House, in Farmington.

He was a man who thought out ways of working, and on June 25, 1821, he received a patent for a horse rake on wheels, it being the first patent of its kind, issued by the United States. In company with Joseph Comstock, he began its manufacture, but at the death of Comstock, the business was closed. The rake was tested on Mud Creek Flats, then owned by John Lapham. Mr. Hance died April 18, 1888.

Note: The name of Edward B. Lapham, U. S. N. Retired, was given compiler by a descendant of Thomas Lapham of Scituate, who settled in America at same time of our first John Lapham, who was born in 1635. The relationship of Thomas of Scituate and our John has not been determined, possibly brothers or cousins. The compiler immediately checked her index and found ancestor of Edward B. Lapham to be Edward Vail Lapham, b. 1825, and no further information. Thanks are due Edward B. Lapham and Dr. Edward Vail Lapham Brown for bringing this family to date (1953). This data came when my genealogy was all compiled, and families numbered, so six generations had to appear under one family number. Compiler B. B. A.

VIII Amanda 6.

IX Luther 6, m. Deborah Lapham, Northville, Mich. See Fam. 74. Residence Albion and Wayne Co., Calhoun Co., Mich. This family is recorded as having settled in Michigan Territory previous to the establishment of the Adrian Meeting in 1831, the above names recorded in Farmington Monthly Meeting, birth dates 1776-1841.

Harry P. Baker of Saginaw, Michigan contributed the following records taken from Michigan Historical Files.

"Quakers in Michigan"

July 1829. Farmington (N. Y.) Quarterly Meeting of all Western New York Meetings of Orthodox branch of newly divided Society of Friends, appointed a committee of five to correspond with "Friends in Michigan."
August 1830. Committee recommended Preparative Monthly Meetings for Michigan.
July 1831. Committee reported nine had gone to Michigan to establish meetings at Farmington, Oakland County, thence to Logan Trop, Lenawee County where meetings were established at Adrian.
1835. Raisin Preparative Meeting followed.
1840. Palmyra Preparative Meeting followed.
1842. Monthly Meeting established—set off from Adrian—also "Indulged Meeting at Ipsilanti."

The settlements above mentioned were made up largely of Friends, who had come out from several meetings in Western and Central New York State.

The only definite list of those who settled in Michigan territory, previous to the establishment of the Adrian Meeting in 1831 is the following, recorded in the Farmington Monthly Meeting (Note) 85 names follow in list of Family names including:
Arnold, Sarah.
Aldrich, Cynthia A., Samuel, Sarah, Amidon, Lovina, Mary, Rhoda, Judith, Alanson, Huldah.
Baker, Moses C. and Aaron S.
Beal, Rachel.
Lapham, Ethan, Milly, David, Norton, Ethan, Luther, Cynthia, Nathan, Joseph.

Other families include Comstock, Jackson, Power, Pratt, Scott, Smith, Willis.

From this list in a closing paragraph Mr. Cox names many who "left their work in the communities where they settled."

Adrian was one of the prominent early Quaker Centers.

Note by compiler: "It would seem that a great many of the Michigan Lapham descendants, were descendants of the above Laphams mentioned."
Scipio Quarterly Meeting (N. Y.) in June 1833.
"being informed there are Friends in Territory of Michigan, who belong to this Quarterly, and as there is no meeting thereaway to which certificates can be directed, a committee was appointed to act with one of Farmington Quarterly Meeting." The joint committee reported January 1834 that they had established Nankin Preparative Meeting and Nankin Monthly Meeting in Michigan territory.
July 1835: Nankin Twp. name changed to Plymouth and the Monthly Meeting was called Livonia Monthly Meeting. (H. P. Baker records).

Note: There are numerous old burying grounds and meeting houses in the area around Jackson and Battle Creek, and on highway south toward Ohio from Jackson, beyond Adrian, are landmarks of early day settlements by Quakers. (By Harry P. Baker)

Note by compiler: Many of the Lapham Quakers who had settled in New York State migrated to Michigan territory taking with them the names of their former towns and counties. These duplicate names of towns in each of these states is confusing to the reader. (B. B. A.)

Aretus Lapham and George Brown of Providence, R. I., settled in Palmyra, N. Y., about 1810, on a farm, which had a total acreage of 425, all in one farm. During the War of 1812, Mr. Lapham was called and for a while was stationed at Sacketts Harbor. At his death, his son, Norman inherited the farm, which he finally sold to Mr. Walker and moved into the village. He made his home for several years at 21 Jackson Street, where his daughters afterwards lived. The farm later passed into the hands of another son, Nelson Lapham. Aretus Lapham erected the First Methodist Church in Palmyra, N. Y.

COPY OF WILL

Know all men that I Humphrey S. Lapham of the town of Macedon, County of Wayne and State of New York, at the age of 56 years, and being of sound mind and memory do make publish and declare this my last will and testament in manner following that is to say:
First: I direct that my executors here in after named as soon after my decease as may be deemed reasonable, by them shall collect, all moneys due me and dispose of all the real and personal estate of which I am seized or own and convert the same into cash.
Second: I give and bequeath to my brother Thomas Lapham's children, Mary, Henry, Aaron and Harvey, three quarters of the amount received from the sale of my entire property, both real and personal and of moneys collected or on hand.

Third: I give and bequeath to my cousin Abby Norris, three hundred dollars out of the remaining quarter of my said property, which said sum I direct to be placed in the hands of Humphrey H. Hoag, in trust for her and direct that he shall pay for her benefit, the annual interest on said three hundred dollars, and so much of the principal at such times, and in such amounts, as in his judgment her circumstances require, and whatever residue there is left at her decease, of said three hundred dollars, I wish to be equally divided among Isaac, Myron, Henry and Lindley, children of the said Humphrey H. Hoag.
Fourth: I give and bequeath the residue of the remaining quarter of my said property to my nephew, Noah Lapham, and Mary Elma Barker, William Penn, Ellen, Edwin and Henry, (children of Henry Purdy and my sister Clarissa, his wife) and Isaac, Myron, Henry and Lindley (children of said Humphrey H. Hoag to be divided among them as follows, viz, giving to Noah Lapham, Mary Elma Barker, William Penn, Ellen, Edwin and Henry, two dollars each as often as one dollar to each of said Humphrey H. Hoag's children.
Fifth: I direct that all expenses of settling my estate and all my just debts be paid, previous to the division of my said property as before mentioned, wishing to be understood however, that the said legacy of three hundred dollars to my cousin Abbey, shall have no charges against it.
Sixth: I give and bequeath all my wearing apparel to my brother Thomas.
Seventh: I hereby direct in case my decease takes place before my said nephew Harvey Lapham, shall have arrived to the age of twenty-one years, that my said executors shall loan the above amount willed to him upon satisfactory security, until such time, as he shall come of age, paying the interest thereon, to his father, the said Thomas Lapham.
Eighth: Where as my wife Rachel, in her last illness requested that all her wearing apparel and silver spoons, should be distributed among her nephews and nieces, it is my wish that such request should be complied with.
Lastly: I do hereby nominate and appoint my friends, Humphrey H. Hoag and Stephen L. Ramsdell to be the executors of this my last will and testament, hereby revoking all former wills made by me.
In witness, whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this tenth day of February in the year of ourLord, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-four.

Seal Humphrey S. Lapham.

The above instrument, consisting of one sheet, was at the date thereof declared to us by Humphrey S. Lapham the testator therein mentioned to be his last will and testament and he at the same time acknowledged to us and each of us, that he had signed and sealed the same, and we thereupon at his request, and in his presence, and in the presence of each other, signed our names thereto as attesting witnesses.

FAMILY 85, (SEE FAMILY 48) QUEENSBURY, N. Y. LAPHAM MACEDON, N. Y. (FARMINGTON) ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Seneca Lapham 6, (Pazzi 5, Benjamin 4, John 3, John 2, John 1) b. June 10, 1784, Dutchess Co., N. Y., d. Dec. 30, 1853, Champaigne Co., Ohio, son of Pazzi 5 and Bethany Foster Lapham; m. Aug. 28, 1803, Rachel Allen, dau of Increase and Mary Allen who was one of thirteen children.
Auth: (Family Allen records of Lewis F. Allen, Pioneers of Macedon; Increase Allen Lapham chart.)

Seneca and Rachel Allen Lapham were born and brought up in the Quaker faith, and they trained their children to love Christ, and do his bidding, help others and love your neighbors. He was a contractor on the Erie Canal, and he with his brother, Fayette, built the arches of the first aqueduct in Rochester. Seneca was a builder. He helped his cousin, Abraham Lapham build his house. For the purpose of finishing the work, he with his family came to live in Macedon. The house is said to have been situated on the north side of a hill and about one mile south of the present village place known as Freer Farm, near Freer's Bridge, now known as Jeerings place.

His son Increase Allen Lapham wrote: Father was married (meaning Seneca) at Queensburg, N. Y. went thence to Junius, then to Palmyra. Seneca and Rachel Allen Lapham lived at Queensburg, N. Y. until after their second child was born, both children dying in infancy. He and his wife then moved to Junius Seneca County, N. Y., then to Palmyra, now Macedon, N. Y. Seneca's work caused him to move from place to place. His son, Darius was born in Farmington, N. Y. in 1808. Increase and Pazzi born at Palmyra, N. Y., now Macedon. Home still stands. Mary William and Margaret at Galen (Newark) New York. Tacy at Rochester, where his work called him and Hannah and Lorana born at Lockport, where he constructed the woodwork of the combined and double locks at Lockport, N. Y. He went to Ohio in 1826 to work on Miami Canal which connected Toledo with Cincinnatti, Ohio. In 1827 he went to Louisville, Ky. Later he went back to Mt. Tabor, Ohio, where he died in 1853. His son, Darius died 1850 Cincinnatti, Ohio. (See Family 162) William died at Mt. Tabor, Ohio, aged 38 years, March 9, 1855, leaving a family. This family were all brought up in the Quaker faith.

FAMILY 85A, (SEE FAMILY 48) DUTCHESS COUNTY LAPHAM

Alexander Hamilton Lapham 6, (Pazzi 5, Benjamin 4, John 3, John 2, John 1) b. June 19, 1789, son of Pazzi and Bethany Foster Lapham; m. Mary Sweet. Some records say that Alexander was married twice, the first being Margaret Bethany. Alexander's father died when he was only six years old, and he with his brothers went to live with their Aunt Ludy and Aunt Mary. In the year 1800 we find his brother, Eliakin at Penn Yan, N. Y., his brother, Seneca at Queensbury, N. Y. in 1803. Seneca was a builder of aqueducts, houses, etc. He with his brothers built aqueducts of the Erie Canal at Rochester, N. Y. They left Rochester about 1825 to work on the Miami Canal in Ohio. His brother, Solomon also located in Ohio, later going to Texas. Fayette, another brother of Alexander Hamilton Lapham, did not venture west, but remained at Egypt, N. Y., and brought up his family. Later his daughter, Lucy Lapham, who married Spencer Bortle, left New York State in 1848 and settled in White Pidgeon, Indiana only a few miles from Lucy's cousins, and remained there for 15 years. It is thought that Alexander's idea for going west was to be with his family as was quite often the custom in those days. He settled in the same kind of country as his cousin Lucy. The country was so swampy and damp that all of Lucy's family were taken sick with fever and ague and were forced to return to New York State. Alexander, who was more often called Hamilton, was named for his father's political friend, Alexander Hamilton, who at that time lived near Poughkeepsie, N. Y. See Fam. 48.

II (162B) Ira 7, m. Margaret Thornley.

They pioneered in Kankakee, Illinois. This was a dismal swampy country at that time, and after Margaret had borne seven children, she died at the age of thirty-six years. Ira died the next year. The seven orphans were taken back to Boone County, Indiana, the former home of the mother, and were cared for by relatives.

III (165) Lucy Antoinette Lapham 7, b. 1827 (June 10); d. Nov. 7, 1905; m. June 13, 1844, Spencer Bortle, son of Philip and Salome Scudder Bortle. Spencer was born March 25, 1823; d. Oct. 9, 1907. Personal appearance: Spencer had dark hair and blue eyes. Lucy had black hair and eyes. Her hair was black when she died. They were ancestors of the compiler.

IV Fayette Lapham Jr. 7, b. 1854; d. 1858.

Fayette Lapham Sr. and wife, Lucy are buried in the Egypt, N. Y. cemetery, also Spencer and Lucy Lapham Bortle, and Fayette Lapham, Jr. Fayette Lapham Sr. was born in 1794, and his father died in 1795, while they were living in Dutchess Co., and his family was broken up and scattered before his remembrance. He first lived with his Uncle Rheuben Stanton, and Aunt Ludy and Aunt Mary, and later lived with his sister, Lorana Lapham Wyman and brother-in-law, David Wyman at Dutchess Co. He settled in Egypt, N. Y., in the early part of 1800, with his Aunt Ludy and Aunt Mary, who lived on Mason Road (See Family 22) in what is now the Conover place. He married Lucy Ramsdell, who lived the next house north of them. Fayette and Lucy bought the house on corner of Main and Cherry St., including several acres of land on both sides of the road, what now comprises the village of Egypt. He later sold off lots, where homes were built. This home of Fayette Lapham, now stands, built about 1819, but has been completely remodeled into "Comstock Canning Co. Office.) It was the home of the compiler of the genealogy for several years, until her parents sold it to Martindale and Monihan Canning Company. She has the first deed of this Lapham property.

Fayette was a millwright by trade, a splendid workman, whose services were sought far and near, so writes S. L. Ramsdell of Clinton, Michigan, who was a nephew of Fayette. Fayette's brother, Seneca was a contractor on the Erie Canal, and his two brothers, Fayette and Alexander worked with him for a time. They built the arches of the first aqueduct in Rochester, N. Y., and constructed the woodwork of the combined and double locks at Lockport, N. Y. Seneca and Alexander later pioneered in the West.

Fayette made several pieces of furniture, one of which was a cherry drop leaf table, which he gave to his grandson, Thurlow Weed Bortle. He gave it to his daughter, Bertha (me) who later gave it to her daughter, Doris Bertha Beal Gaffney, who now has it in her home at Le Roy, N. Y.

Fayette was on the first board of trustees of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Perinton, which was organized on April 4, 1825, at Egypt, N. Y. This church stood on the north side of the road, just east of what is now known as the Cragg place. This church burned Jan. 17, 1922. The compiler has in her possession the first Bible used in this church. Fayette's parents were Quakers and lived in almost the center of Dutchess County, in the region drained by the Tributaries of the Wappinger Creek. Records state that the lives lived by those sons and grandsons bear eloquent testimony of the moral and Christian atmosphere that prevailed at that time. Fayette's father was a Revolutionary Soldier.

Fayette Lapham's name appears on the list of names (Masons) who petitioned the Grand Lodge for the original charter of "Fairport Lodge No. 476, F. & A. M. (Hist of Monroe Co.)

Fayette and Lucy lived their married life in Egypt, N. Y., although Lucy did not live very long. Fayette was afterward married three times. Auth: Monroe Co. Hist.; Nettie Lapham, a granddaughter of Fayette.

The following sketches were taken in part from "Landmarks of Monroe Co., N. Y.; Hist. of Monroe Co., by McIntosh.

About 1800, the Ramsdell family came in and bought a large tract of 600 acres east of the Center, at what is now known as Egypt, N. Y. They were successful in growing large crops of corn, and in a year of scarcity, settlers came there from long distances to buy. Hence the name of the hamlet, Egypt. These farms were later known as the Mason and Ranney farms, thus the Ramsdells and Laphams owning almost all of what is now Egypt, and for a long time practically all land around there was owned by them.

For more than a half century, the Ramsdell family was a prominent one in the town. Thomas, known as Deacon, father of above Lucy had strict New England training and Quaker habits. He was a reformer and generally in the lead, for which he possessed an abundance of moral courage. Through the influences of his Quaker wife, he joined that sect, which regarded uses of whisky then universal as unmitigated evil. When he built his house in Egypt, he resolved to permit no whiskey at the raising. His neighbors ridiculed the idea, and assured him that it would be impossible to obtain assistance and that unless he supplied it, the frame house would never be put up. But when once determined he was unmovable, and the result showed the wisdom of his resolution. The work was accomplished, better and sooner, and the men departed sober, and in a happier mood, and more neighborly spirit than usual.

It was the first practical temperance lecture given in the town, and its influence in revolutionizing the habits of life and business was invaluable and significant.

Thomas Ramsdell had nine children, Gideon, Rev. Jonathan, Mary, Abigail, Noah, Dyer, Leah, Gannett and Lucy, two of whom married Lapham descendants (See Family 75). See Appendix F.

Gideon was a well known Friend and abolishionist, and his house was a favorite way station on the underground railroad from the south to Canada for the fugitive slave. (Mason farm on Mason Rd., Egypt, N. Y.). See App. F.

In 1806, came to the vicinity of Egypt, Oliver Loud, Cyrus Packard, L. Lapham, E. Bateman, and Solomon Aldrich. Cyrus Packard owned what is now known as the Bortle farm, they having bought of the Packard heirs, one hundred years ago, and has been occupied by the Bortle family (Lapham descendants) since that time.

A village sprang up at Egypt, between 1810-1817, a stage depot was established, and three taverns opened. A store was kept by Gregory and Co., another by Packard and Watson, a grist mill with two run of stone was built, a saw mill on Aldrich farm, a tannery, a foundry (located on Conover farm) then owned and operated by Laphams; a blacksmith shop, wagon and shoe shop, nurseries, postoffice and Methodist Church were among the later features of the village. The old Cyrus Packard tavern was located across from the (Richwell) in Egypt formerly owned by Mr. Waters, and before that known as the Amos Cole property. Amos Cole married Hannah Ramsdell, daughter of Gideon Ramsdell. The Packard tavern was later moved farther west on what is now Ranney property, then the Ramsdell property. The building still stands and is used for a shop and storage space. (1952) Auth: Monroe Co. N. Y. Hist; T. Weed Bortle.

"Pazzi Lapham" (father of Fayette Lapham). It is stated that Pazzi was an officer in the same Masonic Lodge with Gen. George Washington, and upon the night he sat in Grand Lodge at Poughkeepsie with Washington, and also the French Marquis, Gen. Lafayette, a son was born at home. This son he named after his friend the General, Lafayette, or Fayette Lapham. Five years previous to this he had named a son after his political friend, Alexander Hamilton. The Jewell of Pazzi's Masonic office is still in the possession of his descendants. (Rec. of Miss M. Lapham).

Stephen Gleason 6, (Abigail Howland 5, Sarah Lapham 4, Benjamin 3, John 2, John 1) b. July 24, 1801, Farmington, Ontario, N. Y.; d. June 21, 1883, Ohio, son of Bezaleel Gleason and Abigail Howland of Farmington, N. Y., m. Oct. 1827, in New York State, Amanda Fletcher, b. Sept. 11, 1804; d. Nov. 23, 1871, South Whitley, Ind.

Lived at Oak Orchard, N. Y. (afterwards called Carlton) until 1837, Stephen and his brother Joseph, having prospected and selected a location in western Ohio, sold their New York farms and with their mother, Abigail Gleason, and all of her family except one married daughter, Sarah L. Pomeroy, moved to Van Wert, Ohio. They made the trip overland, stopping to visit relatives in Lorain Co., Ohio. At one time Stephen was left in charge of the family while the teams, and his brothers went to Perrysburg, Ohio, for the household goods which had been shipped by lake vessels. The journey took several weeks, due to the bad roads, and during this time, Stephen made daily trips to the Evers Handmill four or five miles distant, packing the supply of corn to be ground to supply the four families with bread.

Stephen served in Van Wert Co. as County Commissioner, and County Treasurer, returning to farming he spent several years near South Whitley, Ind., and after his wife died, resided with his children. Children, the four oldest born in N. Y. State, the others in Van Wert, Ohio:

Joseph Gleason, born at Farmington, N. Y., had a fair education, which qualified him to teach District School, where he met Harriet Brown, one of his pupils, whom he married later.

In 1837, Joseph with Stephen his brother visited western Ohio, selected land and returned to New York State, later bringing their mother and all their brothers and sisters and families, except one sister who had moved to Canada. They experienced the hardships usual to pioneers of that time, and became prominent citizens of Van Wert Co., Ohio.

In 1839, Joseph was elected County Recorder (the first of the county) and moved from his farm near Willshire, to Van Wert, where he purchased and operated a tavern known as The American House. He held offices of Recorder, Justice of the Peace, and Associate Judge for many years.

About 1850, he formed partnership with Thomas Kear, and founded a Saw Mill and Lumber Mill, which is known a hundred years later as the Gleason Lumber Co., having been operated by his sons Abram and Frank, and later by F. H. Carper and his son, Guy, keeping the ownership and operation in the family until recently.

Joseph and Harriet had the pleasure of seeing their children settle nearby, and raise families in Van Wert, except one daughter who moved later to Michigan, but returned frequently to visit.

Susan Brownell Anthony 6, (Daniel Anthony 5, Hannah Lapham 4, Joshua 3, John 2, John 1) b. Feb. 15, 1820; d. Mar. 13, 1906, Adams, Mass., dau. of Daniel and Lucy Read Anthony. Compiler and husband Terry Aldridge, visited birthplace of Susan B. Anthony July 1950, while touring through Mass. and Vermont, in search of family data. Mrs. George Howard of Rochester writes for the "Honor Roll Book of the New York State Federation of Women's Club":

"Susan Brownell Anthony"

Honored by the Rochester Federation of Women's Clubs. Gave sixty years of devotion, singleness of purpose and unbelievable persistence for the enfranchment of women. For thirty-nine successive years presented to Congress her bill for Federal Amendment. The Nineteenth Amendment, which became the 'law of the land', Aug. 26, 1920, is called in her honor the Susan B. Anthony Amendment. Organized National American Woman Suffrage Association, and was its president for many years. A commenorative three cent stamp was issued in her honor, Aug. 26, 1936. Her scrap book and writings are in the Congressional Library.

In the Capitol at Washington, D. C., is a piece of sculptor with the heads of Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Lucretia Mott and Susan B. Anthony. A marble bust of Susan B. Anthony stands in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The brick house at 17 Madison St., Rochester, N. Y., where she lived for forty years from 1866 to 1906, is now owned by the Stephen B. Anthony Memorial, Inc., who are making it a National Shrine. Miss Anthony is considered by historians as one of the great women of this country.

In July, 1948, "The First Woman's Rights Convention" was held celebrating its 100th Anniversary, two days at Seneca Falls, and a third day at Rochester, N. Y.

Just on the right a Lockport limestone monument denotes the burial place of Daniel Anthony, who had a world wide reputation as one of the original abolitionists, the friend of the oppressed of all lands. The monument was erected by his son, the Hon. D. R. Anthony of Kansas, it bears on its face the words "Humanity, Liberty, Equality, Justice". He ended his labors here Nov. 25, 1862. His mantel fell on the shoulders of his talented and philanthropic daughter, Susan B. Anthony, and all the world admires how worthily she has borne it. Editorial in Times Union says: May 17, 1952:

HOW TO HONOR SUSAN B. ANTHONY

Eighty years ago, in the national election year of 1872, Susan B. Anthony registered and voted to determine whether the privilege of voting extended to women. She was arrested, tried and fined $100. She told the judge she would never pay the fine, and she never did.

Tomorrow the bust of Susan B. Anthony will be unveiled in the Hall of Fame for Great Americans in the auditorium of the Library of New York University, University Heights, New York City.

She will become the eighth woman to join the ranks of 83 famous Americans whose works have been judged most instrumental in forming the America we have today. Recognition of her rightful place in that distinguished company comes 32 years after the triumph of her cause and 46 years after her death.

We sometimes forget how long and arduous her fight for woman suffrage was. The celebrated court case of 1872 was not the beginning. Miss Anthony's efforts brought about the first debate on woman suffrage on the floor of the Senate in 1866. It was not until 10 years later that the first amendment to secure for women the right to vote was introduced in the Senate.

That was the centennial year of American independence. But it was not until 1920 that the ballot became the universal privilege of American women, although some states had extended the suffrage to them before the 19th Amendment was adopted.

It is right and proper that this long and devoted effort should be remembered by placing the bust of Miss Anthony in the Hall of Fame. She has been enshrined among American immortals by public esteem for many years.

But in another sense the greatest honor that can be done to the memory of Susan B. Anthony, by women especially, is to exercise the privilege she fought so long to secure for them. Miss Anthony's interest was not alone in women's right to vote. It embraced also equality of opportunity for women in education, the professions and in business.

These opportunities have been eagerly seized by women, and whereas in Miss Anthony's time it was difficult for women even to get a first class education, they now are numbered among leaders in every calling. It remains for women, through exercise of the privilege of voting, to bring the higher moral tone to political life which was confidently expected of them before passage of the 19th Amendment.

In Miss Anthony's day women's voting was described as a right. We now know it is a precious privilege. But more than that it is a duty. This year, and especially in Susan B. Anthony's home area, women will honor her memory by performing that duty.

Note: It is interesting to note how some of these personal letter contacts are made. A Lapham cousin from Lake Beulah, Wisconsin sent the compiler an article written by Elizabeth Lapham, taken from a magazine. The compiler sent the letter to J. Fred Henry Publications, to be forwarded to Elizabeth Lapham, which they did. Hence, all of the information concerning the Lapham-Peterson families. This also brought the letter from Rome, Italy, the first letter received from overseas.

FAMILY 115, (SEE FAMILY 70) MACEDON, N. Y. BEAL

Seth Beal 6, (Deborah Lapham 5, Abraham 4, Joshua 3, John 2, John 1) b. May 8, 1803, Macedon, N. Y.; d. Dec. 21, 1884, son of Bernard and Deborah Lapham Beal; m. 1827, Hannah Reed, dau. of Paul Reed, who was born in Cummington Hampshire Co., Mass., Oct. 12, 1773. In 1793, Paul when twenty years of age he came to this section of the country (Macedon, N. Y.) which was then a wilderness. He brought an axe on his shoulder, and picked his way by marks on the trees. He settled on the purchase of his father, David Reed, in what is now the west part of the village of Macedon, N. Y. In 1799 he married Lois Stone, a resident of the township. In 1841, he built the stone house, which now stands upon the place, and which is now the property of Lois Beal Gridley, a Lapham descendant.

Seth Beal was a birth-right member of the Hicksite Society of Friends. He purchased the farm, recently owned by Albert and Ida Briggs, now owned by Leslie and Sarah Kuhnert, Route 31, Palmyra Road, west of Macedon, N. Y., where they lived and cared for their large family of twelve children. Later he married Mrs. Elizabeth Davis, and moved to her home, west of Macedon, N. Y., known as "The Huddle," and there he lived until his death. Seth and Hannah Reed Beal are buried in Quaker Cemetery at Friends Church at Farmington, N. Y.

The Milwaukee Free Press of Oct. 10, 1909, says in a sketch of the life of Dr. Increase Allen Lapham: He was the fifth child of a family of thirteen children. Both father and mother trace their ancestry, in this country, back to the middle of the 17th Century. The name Increase Allen was given this boy for his maternal grandfather. This name can be traced back to the first Allen, who settled in this country. In later years it was said that his name seemed a prophecy of his full life spent, that his fellow men might be helped. His parents, Seneca Lapham and Rachel Allen were born and brought up in the Quaker faith and they trained their children to love Christ and do His bidding, help others and love your neighbors. His father was a contractor on the Erie Canal. Increase early aided in the support of the family and obtained such elementary education as the common schools of the time afforded. He with another brother worked on the farm until the family went to Rochester to live, and there he worked in a grocery store, until his father's work on the canal was finished in that city. The family then moved to Lockport in 1824. His first work there was cutting stones for the locks and the fossils he found in the stone, aroused a life-long interest in geology. When fourteen years old, he began work as a rodman on the Erie Canal, and continued in that service until the canal was finished. He then acted as rodman on stone work at Niagara Falls, then for a short time on the Welland Canal, and in August of 1826, he went to Miami Canal in Ohio.

In 1827, he went to Louisville to work on Louisville and Shippingport Canal. He was naturally apt in drawing, and his maps and plans were in great demand. During the time spent in Louisville, he received instruction in drawing, from Victor Audobon, son of the ornithologist. While there he began his meteorological observations. His tables were published in "The Focus," the Louisville paper. He corresponded with many prominent men, whose letters were a liberal education for him. Mr. Lapham arrived in Milwaukee, Wisc., where he afterward made his home on July 1, 1836. He engaged in real estate business and scientific study. In 1838 he married Ann M. Alcott of Marshall, Mich. In the garden of their home, were many beautiful plants, sent him from noted botanical gardens of the world, in exchange for native plants of Wisconsin, and in this way, many rare plants were introduced in Milwaukee.

The great loss of life and property on the lakes seemed unnecessary to Mr. Lapham and therefore criminal. He thought there was sufficient knowledge of the nature of storms to prevent much of this loss, if it could be collected, and some system organized. He appealed to many for aid, but was not successful until 1870, when the matter was taken up by the United States Government. He spent the winter 1870-71 in Chicago, taking part in the organization of the storm signal service, and while there worked on the first prediction, and sent them to Washington, from whence they were telegraphed to various stations, especially on the lakes. It is to Increase Lapham that we are indebted for the Weather Bureau, founded by him for he was the first to forecast storm and sunshine by the present method. Together with Henry Paine, he founded the Law of 1870, which established the signal office at Washington, D. C. This was five years before his death.

Prof. S. Sherman, in a biographical of Dr. Increase A. Lapham read before the Old Settlers Club in Milwaukee, Dec. 11, 1875, said: "He was quiet and unreserved, but he was as ready to impart knowledge, as he was to receive it. He was prompt to perform any public office, provided always that it did not require him to appear before an audience. He contributed many valuable papers to scientific and historical societies, made many surveys and published many books and maps.

In 1884, he published a description of Wisconsin, which was very helpful, in securing settlers for the state. His most elaborate work was "Antiquities of Wisconsin," published in 1855. His observations of storms began in 1836; he wrote for the press in 1847 on the subject, and his work was of great value to the signal service. Though not the first to notice the path of storms, he brought the long efforts to a successful conclusion, and established a system. In 1860 the Degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred on him by Amherst College, Mass. He was appointed chief geologist of Wisconsin, Apr. 10, 1875. He was reared, lived and died in the religious faith of the "Society of Friends," and a Quaker simplicity marked all his tastes and habits.

Mr. Charles Mann in a Memorial read before the Natural History Society in Milwaukee said: "Dr. Lapham in company with J. F. and John C. McMullen of Milwaukee, explored the Red River of the North in April 1857, and noted many facts of that region. He made many botanical and geological collections during his life, and enriched the museums of many scientific institutions."

Prof. Alphonso Wood said, "I have no hesitation in saying that he stood in the first rank, among the five or six active and intelligent botanists of the country." He was actively at work, until the summer of 1875, when aged and ill health claimed rest, and he spent some months at Minervoc, his beautiful farm on the shore of Oconomonoc Lake. Yet here he was not idle. On Sept. 14, 1875, he finished an article he had been writing, stepped into the boat for a row but soon sank back, and was found dead, evidently from heart disease. Years passed, and in 1909, the city resolved to re-name a park to "Lapham Park" and thereafter to be known by said name, to be so entered in the books of the city, and upon the maps, and charts thereof." Thus the city honored, Dr. Increase A. Lapham in a public manner for the service he had given to the city, state and nation. (end of article)

Increase A. Lapham was an own cousin to Lucy Antoinette Lapham Bortle, grandmother of the compiler.

Some of the Thornleys drove to Kenkakee, Illinois in a big wagon and brought the seven orphans home to Boone Co. Aunt Polly raised my father and his twin Charles. I do not know who took care of the other five. Whether Aunt Mary was old enough to look after them, I don't know. She would have been fourteen or so, so I imagine she did." so writes Miss Margaret Lapham of Tacoma, Washington. Previous to this, Aunt Polly had lost her two children in the scarlet fever epidemic.

Spencer and Lucy Lapham Bortle with their two children, Thurlow Weed and Mary Ramsdell, left their home in Egypt, N. Y. in 1849 to pioneer in the West. They traveled by boat on the Erie Canal to Buffalo, N. Y., from there to Detroit on the lake and into White Pidgeon, Indiana. They cleared the land from two 80 acre plots, built a log cabin, using stumps of trees as a base for the cabin. He was very prosperous and after fifteen years, had accumulated enough money to buy 1000 acres of wheat land in Iowa, and would have, but for the many letters from his parents, asking him to come back to New York State. At that time there was an epidemic of fever and ague in Indiana, so they with their family of six children came back in a covered wagon drawn by oxen. A seventh child was born on the way home.

The compiler drove through this same country in November 1950 with cousins Frank and Ruth Bumpus. In viewing the rail fences, old homes, bridges, roads; wondered if these were the same sites of her ancestors.

Following article taken in part from leaflet concerning Claude Lapham:

Claude Lapham is an American composer-pianist, also proficient on Pipe Organ and Violin. He has been a New Yorker for many years, coming from Oklahoma. In New York he was conductor for the RKO and Loew Theaters, and productions for Shubert, Earl Carroll, Freedley, Grandlund, and Schwab. He was graduated from Juilliard School of Music in 1925, studying under Goetschius. Later he organized his Knights of Melody Band for Texas Guinan, and opened offices.

In 1929, he was contracted to Europe, composing and scoring in London, Paris, and Berlin. The following year he was contracted by Roxy Theater, and Crawford Music Corporation. He left for Mexico in 1931 and toured that country, broadcasting and concertizing, as he speaks Spanish fluently.

In 1935, his oriental opera was given a world premiere in Hollywood Bowl with a cast of 2000, and an audience of 25,000. He is pre-eminent in music arranging, having been the first arranger for both Irving Berlin and Vincent Lopez, as well as many others.

He has to his credit more than 3000 compositions of many tunes of which 250 numbers are in print. He composed practically every type of music, even to the ancient Greek scales. Of special merit are his five operas, the latest being Aztec (Montezuma; also two sonatas, three operettas, and a concerto. He is the writer of "Reference Manual of Asiatic languages". He is proficient in the English, Spanish, French, German, Italian and Japanese languages. Has studio New York City (1953).

VII (323N) Nellie Pearl 8, b. Nov. 29, 1882; m. Feb. 11, 1906, George W. Bevington.

Andrew Jackson Gleason was only a few months old, when the family moved by wagon from New York State to Van Wert, Ohio, stopping for a rest and visit with some relatives in Lorain Co., Ohio. When about to depart to resume their journey his mother remarked that she had a feeling that she was "forgetting something". A check up revealed the fact that the baby was peacefully sleeping in the house ignorant of the danger of being left behind.

Andrew was educated in the common schools of Van Wert and having musical talent was in Chicago studying in the music school of George F. Root and William Bradbury at the outbreak of the Civil War. This interrupted his musical career, and he enlisted as a private in Co. H 15th O. V. I., Sept. 7, 1861, and served through the war, participating in the battles of Shiloh, Liberty Gap, Stone River, Chickamauga, Atlanta Campaign, Franklin and Nashville. He was commissioned 1st Lieut. and Adjutant and was attached to regimental headquarters much of his service. Was wounded at Chickamauga and detailed to recruiting duty while at home recovering for several weeks. He went with the detachment sent to Texas for special service where the regiment was mustered out Nov. 21, 1865, but did not reach home until the first of the year, due to the long boat trip, through the gulf and up the Mississippi River. After the war, Andrew and brother Alonzo formed partnership and manufactured woodstock for wagons and carriages.

He was a member of all branches of the I. O. O. F. and G. A. R. He was taken ill quite suddenly and died in Chicago, while visiting his daughter.

FAMILY 219, (SEE FAMILY 115) MACEDON, N. Y. BEAL

Emory Beal 7, (Seth Beal 6, Deborah Lapham 5, Abraham 4, Joshua 3, John 2, John 1) son of Seth Beal and Hannah Reed. He died in 1906. Landmarks of Wayne County says: (1895)

Emory Beal of Macedon, N. Y., was born in the Town of Macedon, April 20, 1836. His father was Seth Beal 6, born in the town of Palmyra, now Macedon. He was a farmer by occupation and settled on the farm now owned by Emory Beal (1895) now known (1950) as Roy Baker's farm, Route 31, Palmyra Road (opposite Byron Allyn's farm). He died Feb. 18, 1906. The father of Seth Beal was Bernard Beal, a native of Massachusetts, who was one of the descendants of John Beal of Hingham, England. He was one of the first settlers in this locality. Bernard's father was Seth Beal (Revolutionary soldier).

The mother of Emory Beal was Hannah Reed, dau. of Paul Reed and Lois Stone. She had twelve children. Emory followed agriculture all his life, except the time spent in the army (Civil War) which was from August, 1862, to November, 1865. He participated in numerous battles, and was among those who captured the "Gunboat Cotton" at Ft. Bislane. He never received a wound during the service. On Jan. 7, 1874, he married Rosella Imogene Smith at Palmyra Presbyterian parsonage by Rev. Horace Eaton. Emory Beal has served as collector and commissioner of highways, and was a member of Grand Army Republic.

The following taken from War Records:

Emory Beal enlisted in the army, soon after the firing of the first gun, which precipitated the War of the "Rebellion" and remained a faithful soldier, until the close of the war. He was a member of Company B, 160th Regiment, New York, Volunteer.

Engagements: Promoted Corporal Aug. 1, 1865.
Jan. 12-14-1863. Gunboat Cotton, La.
Apr. 12-13-1863—Ft. Bisland.
July 15, 1863—Carrison Crow, Bayn, La.

Sept. 19, 1864—Winchester, Va.
Sept. 22, 1864—Fisher Hill, Va.
Oct. 19, 1864—Cedar Creek, Va. (End of record).

In the early 1900's Emory Beal with his three sons, Charles, Frank and Willis, purchased a two hundred fifty-six acre farm, located one mile east of Macedon, and for twenty-five years was known as the "Beal Brothers farm". They later bought an addition of forty acres from neighbor, Charles Haskins. After Emory's death in 1906, the boys carried on until year 1916, when Ford Fisk bought part of the farm.

Rosella Imogene Smith was born in the town of Ontario, Wayne Co., July 23, 1844, a dau. of David Smith, b. June 5, 1805, Palmyra, N. Y.; d. Dec. 24, 1893; and Arvilla (Pratt) Smith, d. 1877, a native of Madison Co. Rosella d. Sept. 6, 1912. Emory and his wife Rose (Rosella) are buried in the Macedon Cemetery on the Hill, south of Macedon.

Following article taken from Holly Advertiser, Feb. 3, 1949.

William N. Lapham of Detroit was a son of Duane and Ellen Jones Lapham and was born and brought up in Holly. His mother's father was the Rev. Samuel Jones, and from whom the Jones school was named. Young Lapham entered upon a railroad career early in life, first learning the Morse code, and becoming an operator at the Holly station, a position he held for ten years, in the employ of what is now the Chesapeake and Ohio R. R., but then the Flint & Pere Marquette, later the Pere Marquette. In 1902, Will Lapham left Holly and from then until just recently, when he was retired, he was in the train service, working at different times on all the main divisions, whose terminals are Detroit, Saginaw, Ludington, and Toledo. His last service was between Detroit and Toledo. William now lives in Detroit and expects to visit his old home town more often. Address, 557 Louisa St., Flint 4, Michigan.

FAMILY 306, (SEE FAMILY 159) LAPHAM

Marvin Edward Lapham 7, (Alfred 6, Asa 5, Asa 4, Joshua 3, John 2, John 1) b. Mar. 11, 1843; d. Nov. 17, 1893, son of Alfred and Hannah Southwick Lapham; m. Ioa Hedden, dau. of Alan and Lucy Beach Hedden. Marvin Lapham was born on a farm in Livonia, Michigan. When the Civil War broke out, he joined the Union Army. After a period of service in the South, he became seriously ill with a fever, from the effects of which he never fully recovered. His mother, like many of the women of that day, went South to nurse him, and remained there to help other sick and wounded soldiers. After Marvins recovery, he was honorably discharged from the army. The cause of freedom for which the war had been fought, was always close to his heart, and throughout his life time, the negro race had a loyal and active friend. On one occasion, when he was about twenty-two years old, he and a friend of his, each armed with a revolver, saved a young colored boy from a drunken mob, who were bent on lynching him. In later years, he was on the Champaign, Ill. school board. In the face of considerable opposition, he succeeded in having negro children admitted to the public schools.

Ill health forced him to retire from the lumber business, which he had successfully conducted in Champaign, Ill., over a period of years. Marvin Lapham was original in his opinions, charitable with his money and widely and well read on a variety of subjects.

Children:
I (494) William Hedden Lapham 8, b. Mar. 22, 1870, Champaign, Ill., d. Sept. 18, 1936; m. 1895, Helen Evans, b. Nov. 23, 1869, dau. of Lorenzo and Mary Babcock Evans of Mancelona, Mich.
Auth: Rec. of Dorothy H. Lapham, Buffalo, N. Y., a desc. of Marvin Lapham. The compiler discovered Dorothy through a newspaper clipping from a Buffalo paper.

Y., built by Thomas Ramsdell, great-grandfather of Thurlow Weed Bortle. She had 78 descendants.

Thurlow Weed Bortle lived in Egypt all of his life, except fifteen years spent in Indiana (See Family 165). He attended school at Egypt and Macedon Center Academy. He was employed in the mail service for several years, carrying mail from the Egypt postoffice to Fairport and return every day, making the trip with covered carriage, and two horses, this route known as stage route. His good nature made him very popular with those that rode with him on these trips. When the Rural Free Delivery was established, the Egypt Post Office was abolished, and he moved to his father's farm "The Bortle Homestead on the Hill," which has been in possession of the family for one hundred years. Six generations have lived on this farm. My mother still owns the home, living there summers, and spending winters with her daughters, 1932-1953, while Harland, a son, operated her farm. She is ninety years old. (See Family 86).

Children by first marriage:

The Gillettes were from state of Connecticut and moved into Dutchess County, N. Y. State. It is said that the family were French Hugenots, moved to Wales, and from there to America.

HISTORY OF EGYPT, N. Y.

(Many Lapham descendants pioneered here)

About 1806 or 1807, the trees were cleared away, and a road opened and improved through this town, which soon after became a part of the Palmyra and Rochester State Road. Deacon Ramsdell (great great grandfather of the compiler of this book) and Cyrus Packard had purchased and settled in this rich and beautiful valley, cleared considerable land, and more fortunate than many of their neighbors, had succeeded in raising a large amount of corn and other grains. In consequence their fame spread abroad, and many came from the vicinity and a distance to purchase corn of them, whence it became known as Egypt. When the stage and mail route was established, its central location between the two places, and its advanced settlement, made it a state depot, where horses were left and changed. A village immediately sprang up, the first in the town, which grew rapidly and became an important business point. Within a circuit of one mile, three taverns were soon erected and opened, and for several years were in full blast, all doing a lucrative business. They were kept respectively by Olney Staples, (home later owned by Mrs. Bert Blood), Oliver Loud and Cyrus Packard, (this burned down). Here as before stated, the first store was kept by Gregory & Co., in 1815, and the second by Packard and Watson. The latter firm also built and ran a grist mill. About 1820, Roswell Everett erected a tannery here, whcih he carried on for many years.

In 1826, the Methodist Episcopal Meeting House was erected, the Egypt Church, having been organized the year previous. In 1817, Daniel Whitman built a blacksmith shop, the first in Egypt. It became a good business point and especially during the digging of the canal. When the courts of justice, which were held here by Eleazer Bateman, Magistrate, were in constant session, and exciting. The completion of the canal, however, soon diverted the main business to Fairport, and destroyed its advance. At present there remains a wagon shop, blacksmith shop, and a store with the Post Office, the latter conducted by Cullen Lond who was born in Egypt, 1807. Ref: McIntosh Hist. of Monroe Co. (1877).

During these early days, Thomas Ramsdell owned with his sons, what is known in Egypt as the Mason Farm house, built by Gideon in 1816, and Ranney Farm house, built in 1815, and other lands. Nathan Lapham owned an iron foundry on the Conover Farm. Fayette Lapham married Thomas Ramsdell's daughter, and owned practically all of Egypt west of Egypt four corners. The Comstock Canning Company is located now on this land. The Egypt Cemetery was taken from the Ramsdell property. At one time Philip Bortle owned the corner house of Main and Thayer Road with farm across road, later known as Fisher Farm. Phillip's son, Edward, owned the Cragg property, and property west of Delano property.

Aunt Dora Scribner's Scrapbook says: 1886.

It becomes our sad duty to report the death of Mrs. Barnett F. Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Bortle. The funeral was held on Wednesday, 27 inst., and service appropriately conducted by Rev. John Cline at the South Perinton Church. A floral wreath with ribbons attached, bearing the inscription, "Blessed are the dead, which die in the Lord," was placed upon the casket by a friend. The large attendance and manifest feeling testified to the respect and esteem in which Betty was held. Mrs. Wheeler was a truly kind and faithful wife and mother, and much endeared to all who knew her, for her even, calm and peaceful life.

The farm on which John Young lives is now in its 100th year formerly occupied by the first John Young, who was born in 1808. The low rambling house has not been changed much with the years. Mr. Young shows visitors segments of the rugged beech beams, cut from timber on the farm. There are many valuable antiques in this home. Earlier generations of this family were staunch Quakers, following which has played a vital part in the development of the town. All of the early Laphams were Quakers. (Taken in part Victor Herald, July 29, 1949.)

Junius Beal writes:

A few years ago I went down to Maidenhead in Kent, England, where the great Church has a bronze tablet erected by a Beal, in 1485. It was in memory of his father, his grandfather and great grandfather, telling of the offices they had held. Near this tablet was one of Lawrence Washington, the ancestor of our George. I suspect this tablet was erected when the Beals moved to Norfolk, since later the family moved from Norfolk to Boston, just 1640, August 20, the exact anniversary of this day.

CONFLICTION

How peaceful here! On this old hill where cattle stroll and graze;
Where ground birds nest unfrighted, woodchucks feed, 'neath sunset's haze.
Beside me in the woodland oaks and maples grayish-green;
Below me, quiv'ring aspens, glossy willows, can be seen.

Still farther toward the homestead down the valley east and west
Pears, cherries in pure whiteness; peach trees all in pink are dressed.
All Nature seems just perfect and right here I'd like to stay;
There's nothing ugly, all is love, and this is Mother's Day.

In contrast now, with eyelids closed, I look across the sea
Where millions of our mother's boys are where they would not be;
For selfishness, the greatest sin, hath gained the upper hand
And ev'ry mind is turned to war in nearly every land.

Our sons and daughters have been called from honorable pursuit
And trained to hate, destroy, crush, to cripple, bomb and shoot
Their fellowmen, in God's own image formed, of ev'ry race.
Just think what mothers, little children, babes in arms, must face!

It's peaceful here, yet 'mid the clouds above the quiet lea,
Destruction bent, the bombers roar from factory to sea;
Both day and night the mighty engines haul on bands of steel
Long trains of laden tank cars, ammunition, death to deal.

We'll hand our children's children a handsome unearned debt
'Twill take a thousand years to pay with "blood and tears and sweat".
We'll call ourselves "enlightened," "civilized," and "Christian" too,
Yet, pirates of the seas and cavemen killed and maimed a few.

O foolish man! You're not a God. Mt. Sinai's laws will stand;
They're writ on stone for hardened hearts in folks of ev'ry land.
Lest we forget, when nations meet, if they would try Christ's way
God's love and peace would fill the earth as waters cover the sea.

T. B. A. May 1944.

Written by husband of compiler while their six boys were in the service, World War II.

See Fam. 567. Doris grad. Macedon High School 1929 and from William Smith College, Geneva, N. Y., June, 1933. Taught school two years at Victor, N. Y., had several courses in hand painted china work. At age of fourteen painted a 100 piece set of china. Article taken from Le Roy, N. Y. paper, before Matt. entered the Navy.

"Will be missed in Le Roy."

Matthew W. Gaffney, who has been Vice Principal of Le Roy High School for the past five years, leaves this week to become an ensign in the United States Navy by voluntary enlistment. This is no surprise to the many who have come to know Mr. Gaffney. From the day of Pearl Harbor or our entry into the war, he began to plan the step, he has now taken. While Mr. Gaffney's first duty was to his connection with the school faculty, he has given unreservedly of his time to our community life. As a teacher of history and social studies, his analetical mind was well in tune with World and National affairs, and he has been a frequent speaker before clubs, church classes, and service organizations, and always with an illuminating message. We are going to miss "Matt Gaffney" in Le Roy, and he is assured of a warm welcome, when the big job ahead of us, as a nation is finished. (End of article) (See Family 567)

At the close of the war, Matt returned to Le Roy, N. Y., to join his family, was made Superintendent of Schools at Le Roy, which position he now holds (1953). His rank is Navy-Lieutenant.

Robert Allyn Kennedy 10, (Ennis May Allyn 9, Emory Beal Allyn 8, Chloe Beal 7, Seth Beal 6, Deborah Lapham 5, Abraham 4, Joshua 3, John 2, John 1)

Biography of Robert Allyn Kennedy

Robert Allyn Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Kennedy, was born Jan. 22, 1918, on the home farm near Manchester, Iowa. He attended the rural schools of Delaware County and Manchester High School. Robert possessed outstanding abilities in music and dramatics and contributed freely of both to the pleasure of others, thereby winning many friends wherever he went.

He was a member of the Methodist Church at Manchester, the Manchester Community Players, Knights of Pythias, the Masonic Lodge, and the American Federation of Musicians.

At the time Robert was called to the service of his country, Nov. 11, 1941, he was in the employ of his father on the home farm. After basic training at Camp Polk, Louisiana, he became a communication operations sergeant in Company F, 36 Armored Infantry Regiment, Third Armored Division. Robert was an active member in the 36 Armored Infantry Regiment Glee Club which was heard in Shreveport and New Orleans, Louisiana, Beaumont, Texas, and other southern cities. His division went overseas in Sept. 1943, to be stationed in England until it went into active combat duty in France the latter part of June, 1944, where Robert was mortally wounded by German shell fire at Mortain, France on August 17, 1944. His remains are temporarily buried at Garron, France, but will be returned for permanent burial at Cedar Memorial Park Cemetery, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

"The Thomas Lapham Family"

The Lapham Family Register by W. B. Lapham says:

"Thomas Lapham was at Scituate, Mass., in 1635. He probably came from the County of Kent in Old England. From his intimate relations with Rev. John Lothrop, pastor of the first church in Scituate, and Elder Nathaniel Tilden, the first ruling Elder, we are led to believe that he was one of those men of Kent who left England in order to seek a place where they could enjoy more perfect religious freedom. He joined Lothrop's church March 24, 1636, and was married March 13, 1637, to Mary, eldest daughter of Nathaniel Tilden. His place of residence was near Scituate Harbor." (end of article).

We do not know exactly the birth of Thomas Lapham. He was a young man on the boat Hercules which sailed from Tenterden, England in 1634 and he died in 1648, leaving six small children.

His will was dated 1646 and is recorded among the Plymouth Colony Records. In his will he mentions the four oldest children—with his wife Mary as Executrix. In June 5, 1651, this will was allowed to be proven at a Court holden at New Plymouth.

The Lapham Family Register says:

"Liberty is allowed to Mr. Hatherly to prove the will of Thomas Lapham, deceased at Scituate, in the regard the widow Lapham, through weakness is unable to come into Court."

"Patriotic Record of some of the descendants of Thomas Lapham of Scituate, Mass."

In the Old French War, Stephen and Benjamin Lapham served in Capt. Keenes Company. (1857) Isaac was at the seige of Ticonderoga in the same war. John also served in this war.

"The Revolutionary War"

In this war the following named Laphams were enrolled in different Massachusetts Regiments. Abial, Amos, Asa, Benjamin, Daniel, David, George, Isaac, James, John, John Jr., King, Lemuel, Oliver, Stephen, Thomas.

King Lapham was First Lieut. in Capt. Turner's Company. John Jr. served in the army operating against Burgouyne and died from the effects of and injury received while in the line of duty. Nathaniel and Joseph both served in the Navy.

"War of the Rebellion"

William B. Lapham was acting assistant surgeon in the hospitals at Augusta, Maine during the Fall and Winter of 1861; was promoted to Second and First Lieutenant in the 23rd Maine Infantry; helped recruit and served as First Lieutenant in the 7th Maine Battery, and after the surrender of the rebel armies and the close of the war, appointed A. Q. M. and ordered on duty in Vermont—mustered out Oct. 30, 1865. James M. served 3 years in the 36th Mass. Infantry; was with the 9th Army Corps at Jackson and Knoxville. Isaac F. served on the 10th Maine Infantry and 7th Maine Battery. John E. was in the 32nd Maine Infantry and was severely wounded at the Battle of Peeble's Farm, front of Petersburg; Richmond served three years in the 5th Maine and was wounded and taken prisoner at the battle of Spotsylvania Court House. After the capture of Richmond, and entry was found in the hospital records as follows: "R. M. Lapham, I, 5th Maine, wound in shoulder." Abijah was in the 32nd Maine, and on the day of his arrival at the front, which was then at the North Anna River, Va., he was accidentally shot by a comrade and lived only a few hours.

Amos E. was a wagoner in the 5th Maine, and died in consequence of an injury by a heavy box of freight which fell upon him from a wagon.

Charles served in both the 10th Maine Infantry and the 7th Maine Battery. Joseph served also in these two organizations.

Laphams from Somersetshire, England.

(Settled in United States 1853)

It is interesting to note that some two hundred years after the first Lapham settled in America, Charles Lapham born in 1835 at Midsummer Norton, Somersetshire, England, came to United States at eighteen years of age. He was followed some years later by his parents and chidlren. They settled in Wisconsin, and later emigrated to California (1889).

William Lapham father of Charles, married Ann Mary Harlow, had three sons, three daughters. Charles the eldest of the six, married ..... Had son William Clyde Lapham of 212 Steiner St., San Francisco, California, who has a son Ben. C. Lapham of Berkeley, California.

Note: It is thought that the ancestor of William of Somersetshire, England, and John of Devonshire, England were closely related. These two towns bordering each other. We are glad to add this family of Laphams.

APPENDIX E

"Beal Ancestry"

John Beal, b. 1588, Hingham, England; d. 1688, 100 years old at time of death, the projenitor of the large family, bearing his name, and dwelling in Hingham, Cohasset, Weymouth and Abington came from the parish of Hingham, in the county of Norfolk, England, which is situated about fourteen miles, southwest of Norwich, England, the shire town and about 98 miles northeast of Londan.

He came on the vessel called the "Diligent" of which John Martin was Master, arriving at Boston on the 10th of August, 1638. Daniel Cushing one of the early town clerks of Hingham, who also came to New England in the "Diligent",—in a manuscript lists of the early settlers of Hingham, which has fortunately been preserved,—says of him, "John Beal, shoe maker with his five sons, three daughters, and two servants came from Old Hingham, and landed and settled in New Hingham. Perhaps the inducement that led Mr. Beal to select Hingham as a place of abode, was that his wife Nazareth whom he married in 1628, was daughter of Edmund Hobart, and consequently sister of Rev. Porter Hobart the first minister of that town. He had chosen that place for his labors a few years previous. Not long after his settlement in Hingham, he became a land owner, as may be inferred, from the following entry taken from the towns book of "grants of land":—Given unto John Beal for a house,—lot, six acres of land, butting upon the town street northward, and upon the common southward, bounded with the land of Jenas Austin eastward, and with the land of Thomas Hobart westward. The site of this home lot can be easily pointed out on the south side of the present South Street (which was the ancient town Street) and west of Hersey Street, which was laid out through Mr. Austins original lot.

On the 13th of March succeeding his arrival, Mr. Beal was admitted to the freedom of Mass. Colony, by taking the customary freemans oath, which he did at the same time with several of his fellow townsmen, and in 1649, in company with Nicholas Jacob, he represented the town of Hingham in the Central Court of the Colony.

His wife Nazareth died on the 23rd of September, 1658; and on the 10th of the following March, he married Mary, the widow of his old friend Nicholas Jacob, who had died on the fifth of June, 1657. By this wife he had no children, and she died on the fifteenth of May, 1681, as David Hobart, who continued his fathers diary, has recorded the event, although the town record states that "Mary Beal the wife of John Beal Senior, died 15th of June, 1681."

Mr. Beal lived to a good old age—for under date of 1, April, 1688, Judge Sewall, noted in his diary, "Father Beal of Hingham dies at 100, and David Hobart wrote under the same date. "My Uncle John Beal died suddenly.

All the sons of Mr. Beal married and had children as did also all the daughters except the youngest, Rebecca, who died unmarried.

Note: This ancestry of Beal family will interest a great many Lapham descendants. We find that the Laphams have intermarried many times in the Beal family, thereby causing thousands of descendants to appear in this book. Not only have the John Lapham descendants intermarried, but the Thomas line as well. It is hoped that at some future time, someone will compile the "Descendents of John Beal of Hingham, England". "Ramsdell House", Mason Road, Egypt, N. Y.

An Underground Railroad Station.
Gideon Ramsdell, the oldest child of Thomas Ramsdell and Hannah Gannett came into the township of Perinton (Egypt) New York State early in the fall of 1800, and settled on the six hundred acre Ramsdell tract. He camped, made a small clearing, and built a log cabin on the eastern slope of a hill, which ended in a cedar swamp from whose center rose a small rounded elevation of land, designated as "The Island".

In later years groups of Tonawanda and Buffalo Indians sometimes camped on this knoll-like place in the spring and fall, as they traveled to and from Big Sodus Bay. These became friendly with the White man's family and occasionally stopped over night at his house, a group of 30 being there at one time.

During the first Winter, Gideon taught school, about six miles east, in Macedon. In February, his father Thomas Ramsdell brought the rest of the family and settled a little east and south of Gideon on the other side of the swamp. A beautiful valley runs east and west along here, in which at that time lay the best farming land and in 1806, a stretch of state road was constructed through its center, reaching from Palmyra to Pittsford, which soon developed into a stage coach and mail route.

Gideon, a brother of Jonathan and Lucy Ramsdell and son of Deacon Thomas Ramsdell, married Feb. 2, 1802, Hannah Smith of Macedon.

In 1815 his father built the frame house, which still stands and is known as the Ranney house, in the present hamlet of Egypt (1953).

In 1816, Gideon himself built a frame house, because his cabin had become too small to comfortably care for his growing family. Its clapboards were fastened with hand wrought nails, a hole for each one, having been made by a gemlet. This house had the destinction of being the first painted house in the township. Some of the window panes are still in their original putty bed.

Gideon among other things was a licensed surveyor and could have roads where he wanted them on his own land.

The Ramsdells were of the Sect of Friends. This probably accounted for the simplicity of their homes, their being no unique feature about either of the Ramsdell houses, except in the cellar of Gideon's large two story addition, which later was joined to the south side of the first building.

This upright was the usual one of the time, having large rooms and high ceilings. A long and generous hall with a stair case on the north side connected it with the old section. After the building of this addition however, the house was dubbed "Ramsdell's Castle". The walls of its cellar, which was of good height and well ventilated, were made of large boulders from the fields. It was here in this place the abolitionists established, previous to the Civil War, an Underground Railway Station.

When the writer of parts of this article tried to find information concerning this Underground Railway, which was a secret organization and had so large a part in promoting the growth of the anti slavery question, she was almost at a stand still. One man said, you can't find out anything about that, it was a secret, but it was safely whispered that the slaves were passed from here directly north somewhere on the lake. We can imagine how the working out of this secret and hazardous project was accomplished if we know a little of the topagraphy of the township.

It was here among these remote forest covered hills and valleys that various caches of food and drink were to be found in hollow trees and stumps, marked by secret signs known only to the initiated members of the Underground Railway Service and the fleeing slaves. It being unlawful to give or sell anything to these desperate men and women struggling along toward freedom, the members of the service gladly loaned them money, clothing, food, or whatever was most needed. If any were sick, they were cared for by kind friends like Gideon Ramsdell, until it was safe for them to go on.

Now ninty-one years later this hill country is still a beautiful and romantic place, whose roads wind and curve as they did when its settlers strove to find the easiest way out and down through the forest to the lowland.

13. Thomas Arnold, Esquire, succeeded in Llanthony and other estates in Monmouthshire. Married Agnes, dau. of Sir Richard Warnestead, Knight. They had two sons, the youngest:

14. Richard Arnold, removed into Somersetshire and resided in the parish of Street. Married Emmote, dau. and heir of Pearce Young of Damerham, in Wiltshire, by whom he had three sons. The eldest:

15. Richard Arnold, removed into Dorsetshire and became seated at Bagbere in the parish of Middleton, otherwise Milton Abbas. He was Lord of the Manor of Baghere and also possessed estates in Alton Pancrase, Buckland, Newton, Cheselbourne, Melcombe, Horsey and other places in that Country. He was married twice. His second son:

16. Thomas Arnold, removed to Cheselbourne where he resided on an estate previously belonging to his father. He married twice. His first wife was Alice, born Sept. 29th. 1553, dau. of John Gulley of North Over, in the parish of Tolpuddle. By this marriage he had six children. One daughter was Joanna, baptized Nov. 30th. 1577, who married William Hopkins. Her brother William was the father of Benedict Arnold, the first Governor of R. I.

"CONCLUSION"

One Lapham descendant has written the compiler and says "that the persistence in face of unsurmountable obstacles leads a Lapham to eventual success, is a trait of character that has carried down from our forefathers. You have proved that the trait is as strong as ever and we can take courage and pride in the knowledge."

The compiler feels that without the wonderful co-operation of all Lapham descendants, this task would not have been accomplished.
